Russia Ready To Talk

German Peace Treaty Offer

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia said tonight it is ready to hold four-power talks on a German peace treaty.

The statement, issued by the Soviet news agency Tass, said Russia will not agree to talks designed to bring about German reunification "without the Germans and behind their backs."

It added: "But the Soviet Union would not refuse to discuss the conclusion of a peace treaty which, in its view, falls within the competence of the four powers."

The statement went on to reject Western suggestions of free elections for the whole of Germany as "pure demagoguery."

JUDGE TELLS U.K. LANDLORD

Slopped-Over Tea Just Not Cricket

LONDON (CP)—The longest storm in a teacup in legal history blew itself out Wednesday leaving the landlord of an apartment block in London's fashionable West End as the chief victim.

It began 18 months ago when Sir Joseph Perez, chief justice of Trinidad and Tobago, moved into a £3-a-day service suite for what was to have been a three-month stay. Two weeks later, he moved out, saying the service was the worst he had encountered in 40 years. The landlord sued him for 2½ months' rent.

When the case finally came to trial last June, Sir Joseph testified that he had to carry his own bags upstairs on arrival, that his morning tea arrived half an hour late with as much liquid in the saucer as in the cup, that he had to

SNOW ... SNOW ... SNOW

AND MORE TO COME

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—Hope gave way to renewed gloom today in this blizzard-stricken city as residents awoke to new snow and a forecast of more.

Another four inches had fallen overnight, raising to about 6½ feet the pile that has broken roofs, buildings and business in the last five days.

Two local building contractors estimated damage has reached $500,000 and probably would go higher.

Drifts are more than 20 feet high.

Reds Warn West Against Force

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union declared in an official statement tonight that any Western attempt to "break through" to West Berlin by force will be considered an act of war by all the Warsaw Pact nations.

An authorized declaration by the official Tass news agency stated bluntly that Soviet troops are not in East Germany to show the West the road to Berlin.

The Tass declaration apparently was issued in response to authoritative Western reports last Saturday that the United States was on the verge of sending tanks to free a U.S. Army truck convoy held up by East German authorities last month.

The statement also attacked the West for delaying on Russia's proposals for "normalizing" Berlin.

It cautioned that "nothing remains" for Russia to do but to end the occupation unilaterally if the West will not negotiate in a "businesslike manner."

BRITISH TRAIN WRECK

URMSTON, Eng. (AP)—A passenger train plowed into a crane which had toppled off a bridge onto the track here tonight.

Five coaches were derailed. First reports said only that "casualties" had been taken to a hospital in this Lancashire town.

The train was carrying an undisclosed number of passengers from Liverpool to Manchester.

One unconfirmed report said a second passenger train crashed into the wreckage, and its locomotive was derailed.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Eternal God, we join in prayer this day to invoke Thy favor and grace upon the people who work with the earth to make it bountiful in its harvests. Help them to love the soil as they till and tend it. May they use it wisely and prudently, that its fertility may not be recklessly exploited in selfish greed. Give them joy in the consciousness that they are Thy servants and Thy stewards, partners with Thee in heart and in harvest; in Jesus' name, Amen.

Briggs Knew He'd Be Found Out—Martin

VANCOUVER (CP)—Health Minister Eric Martin said Wednesday night that H. Lee Briggs, former general manager of the British Columbia Power Commission, "made his accusations because the Social Credit government would have found out the mess he was in."

His accusation, probably the strongest against Mr. Briggs since he was dismissed from his post after attacking government finance policies, came at a rowdy all-party meeting at a church club.

Mr. Martin said Mr. Briggs resigned from the power commission "because he was in a mess and he wanted to pull the whole house of cards down with him."

"This government has watched the power commission closely and Briggs knew he would be found out," he would be found out.

The government has ordered a royal commission to investigate charges made by Briggs against its financing policies and the costs of certain power commission projects.

'I Didn't Come To Be Insulted

Mr. Ainsworth said the Social Credit administration "is falling apart at the seams because of the failure of the senior officers of the government."

Mr. Martin demanded an immediate retraction of this statement: "I didn't come here to be insulted."

Mr. Ainsworth said he was "not dealing in personalities."

"But I am ashamed as a native British Columbian of this spreading disease within our government which is dragging down our civil servants."

Mr. Laing said the government is spending from $40,000 to $60,000 "in what will likely be a vain effort to win a seat in the Rossland-Trail riding."

Big liquor interests are travelling with some of the Social Credit cabinet ministers there," he said.

When Mr. Martin challenged this remark, Mr. Laing said: "It has been reported in Vancouver newspapers that a certain Kelowna wine-producer has been accompanying the highways minister."

"After what has happened I would expect a little humility from this government," said

MILK FOR HUNGRY CHILDREN

Our Youngsters Pitch In

It has been truly heart-warming to note in contributions to the "Milk for Hungry Children Fund" the number of offerings from children here.

They have arrived in dribs and drabs, some sizeable donations obviously saved by the children themselves at perhaps some sacrifice, especially at this money-tight season of the year.

A gift, no matter how small, will help a starving child.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me," he said.

The campaign on behalf of the Unitarian Service Committee, helped by the Victoria Times, is now in its ninth day and will continue to Christmas. Object is to raise money to ship dried milk from Canada to the hungry hordes of pitiful children in Korea, India and Hong Kong. Needed from Canada for this purpose is $200,000 and from Victoria—

Eligible voters: Don't be cross, make one!

Rain Spoils Early Voting At Civic Polls

Lowest Turnout Since '42 Looms

A trickle of votes dropped into ballot boxes throughout Greater Victoria this morning as rain fell from overcast skies.

Early civic election turnouts ran on the light side in all municipalities except Oak Bay where the first reeveship contest in a decade was drawing a heavier vote than last year's 29 per cent.

By noon 611 Oak Bay voters had cast ballots, 50 per cent more than at the same time last year indicating the complete vote would top the 41 per cent turnout in 1956.

Victoria voters had cast 1,464 ballots by noon in the public market building indicating the possibility of the lightest vote since 1942's 25 per cent.

Last year 23 more persons had turned out by noon and the total vote wound up as a low 28 per cent.

ESQUIMALT PLUNGES

The turnout was expected to plunge sharply in Esquimalt from 1957's 47 per cent prompted by a reeveship contest. Polling was very slow this morning with only 150 votes cast by noon.

Saanich's 13 polling stations reported balloting was slow with indications that last year's 33 per cent turnout would not be reached.

However, returning officers in all the municipalities said they expected voting to pick up to a brisk pace in late afternoon despite the poor start which was blamed on the weather.

Polling stations in all municipalities remain open until 8 p.m.

ISSUES AT STAKE

A total of 53,399 Greater Victorians are eligible to vote.

In Victoria, 20,273 persons can select four new aldermen and ratepayers can vote on the $1,000,000 parking bylaw and the amalgamation referendum.

In Saanich, 21,865 persons can choose three new councillors. Ratepayers must decide whether or not they want amalgamation and Cadboro Bay-Gordon Head ratepayers can vote on two sewer bylaws totalling $1,700,000.

Oak Bay's 7,647 eligible voters can elect a reeve and five councillors while Esquimalt's 3,614 eligible voters can choose three new councillors.

FIRST BALLOT

KISS FOR THE CHAMP

To the victor go the spoils, and for ageless Archie Moore they included a buss from his wife after rugged scrap in Montreal in which he got off the canvas to whip challenger Yvon Durelle in light-heavyweight title bout. Amazing Archie won by a knockout in the 11th round. Moore indicated he would give Durelle a rematch. See story Page 12.

People and Things

LONDON—Sir Winston Churchill was listening to a House of Commons debate while two Conservative Members of Parliament chatted about him on the back bench.

One member, The London Daily Herald reported today, said to the other: "The old man seems to be getting a bit past it these days."

The 84-year-old wartime minister turned around and interjected: "Yes, and they say he's getting a bit hard of hearing."

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Mona Lisa was pregnant, an English medical authority says.

And that was what her smile was all about.

Dr. Kenneth D. Keele of Ashford Hospital, Middlesex, told a Yale audience Tuesday he thinks Leonardo da Vinci was trying to portray the pregnant state of woman in his painting.

Keele suggested da Vinci had a mother figure in mind—possibly his own.

CHESTERFIELD, England—An angry young Briton wants to know why electric lights were installed at Chesterfield railway station for a recent visit by Prince Philip and then taken down again.

The day after Philip left, the lights were switched off and the station reverted to its normal old-fashioned gas lamps.

Former fighter pilot Brian Marfield, 26, told reporters Tuesday night, "It seems fantastic that lights should be fixed up for a brief visit by Prince Philip and then taken down again."

The Daily Express reported today that passengers using the station are "furious."

PARIS—Temperamental French motorists and their temperamental old cars are combining to give Paris police a giant headache.

The problem was blamed on Parisians who will not tolerate any breakdowns in their old jalopies. When the car conks out, they just push it to the curb and forget about it.

The police said an average of 14 cars a day are being abandoned in this way. In the last 12 months 5,000 have been left on the city streets.

Sect Family's Baby Winning Life Battle

TORONTO (CP)—Kenneth Campbell and his wife may have their religious beliefs adhered to after all.

Hospital authorities said today their three-day-old RH baby still doesn't need transfusions the 27-year-old couple have refused to permit because they are Jehovah's Witnesses.

With the Children's Aid Society standing ready to take legal action to get the baby a transfusion if necessary, the chances of tiny Lori Lynn needing one grew smaller.

Doctors say it's the first five days of an RH baby's life that determine whether trans-fusions are needed to replace blood containing harmful antibodies resulting from RH negative and RH positive blood in the parents.

In 22 per cent of the cases a baby can live without transfusions.

Mr. Campbell, 27-year-old Toronto lithographer, has refused to permit a blood transfusion on religious grounds. Jehovah's Witnesses say transfusions are included in Biblical passages which forbid the eating of blood.

"Other RH babies have lived without a transfusion," says Mr. Campbell.

New Talks To Form Coalition in Finland

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—The minority Agrarian party agreed today to try to form a new government and end a cabinet crisis brought on by Soviet economic pressure.

President Urho Kekkonen asked the Agrarians to make the attempt and gave them full authority to solve the serious foreign policy problem.

The Agrarians, a centre party with 48 seats, brought down Premier Karl August Fagerholm's cabinet last week by quelling the government. They accused Fagerholm, leader of the right-wing Social Democrats, of provoking the Russians.

Kauno Kleemola, leader of the Agrarian bloc in Parliament, scheduled a series of talks immediately with other parties to determine whether a coalition is possible.

Moscow brought down the last government by stopping trade because Conservatives dominated it and the Communists were left out. The Communists are the largest bloc in Parliament with 50 of the 200 seats.

Tom Alsbury Topples Hume As Mayor

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver gets a new mayor at the start of the year, a 54-year-old Scottish-born educationist dedicated to making Canada's third largest city prosperous and crime free.

He is Thomas Alsbury, principal of a city high school, who Wednesday made a successful upset bid against veteran chief magistrate Fred Hume, who has been mayor for eight years.

The final figures showed Mr. Alsbury with 41,948 votes, Mr. Hume with 29,934 and Archie Proctor, a third candidate, with 4,393.

Although little more than 25 per cent of the city's 242,000 voters turned out in the rain, they chose Alsbury over Hume, the man they first elected in 1950 and have returned every mayoralty year since. A third candidate, 46-year-old businessman Archie Proctor, ran far behind as an independent.

Alsbury's victory was considered not only an upset of the man who has made the lapel rose, the stetson and the big smile his symbols, but a score for the Civic Voters' Association which came into being in 1957 to oppose the Non-Partisan Association, a long-time strength in civic politics.

Alsbury, a former CCF party member, was a CVA man who also had the support of labor. Hume ran under the NPA label. Conceding defeat, Hume, who was mayor of nearby New Westminster before moving to Vancouver, congratulated the winner and promised his help when Alsbury takes office Jan. 1.

For his part Alsbury told the voters in a statement that after four unsuccessful tries at the mayoralty "you have given me the green light and there's enough Irish in me to be partial to green."

He promised to go after the provincial government for a better financial deal on education, social welfare and roads, to hold the line on taxes, to make Vancouver prosperous and rid the city of "hoodlums and criminal elements."

But among the six aldermen chosen by the voters the CVA didn't fare so well. NPA incumbents Earl Adams, Frank Baker and Halford Wilson were re-elected, with the latter heading the poll away out in front. Also elected was NPA candidate William Rathie and E. A. Jamieson who was backed by the CVA and labor.

Chosen in a close fight for a one-year term to fill mayor-elect Alsbury's seat on city council was Frank Fredrickson, one-time hockey great.

The NPA and CVA split evenly on the five school board members elected, with both associations backing one of the candidates. NPA candidates took two park board seats, CVA-Labor another and the fourth went to veteran incumbent Arnold Webster, an independent who got a huge majority.

CVA president David Sturdy announced after Alsbury's mayor victory he planned to quit because he considered his job done. He indicated he would enter another field of politics, either provincial or federal.

Sturdy, a lawyer, became prominent as one of the men who brought to light the bribery-conspiracy case revolving around former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers.

Alsbury, 54, was born in Edinburgh and came to Canada as a child with his parents. He became a teacher, but is still getting his own education, working for a master's degree in education. He began politics with a tilt for the CCF party in the federal election of 1940 but failed in that and another attempt in 1945. He left the party's ranks last spring.

'Prophet' Faces Eviction

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Province says elderly Bill McFarlane, the "Prophet of Hollyburn Ridge," will possibly be evicted from his remarkable mountain-top cabin near here if sheriff's officers are ordered to serve him a formal eviction notice secured six months ago by British Pacific Properties Limited, which claims ownership of the land.

But the sheriff, the newspaper adds, has been asked to delay the eviction until arrangements are made to accommodate Mr. McFarlane elsewhere.

Mr. McFarlane said he is prepared to argue a complicated formula involving squatter's rights.

San Francisco's famed Telegraph Hill got its name from the semaphore which once signalled the arrival of sailing ships to traders in town.

All-Out Smog Battle Waged in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Los Angeles air pollution officials, confronted with the worst December smog siege on record, stepped up their efforts today to rid the area of aerial contamination.

Two smog alerts already have been declared this month, marking the first outbreak of warning-level pollution ever to be recorded in the Los Angeles basin during December.

The alerts increased to seven the number called so far this year as compared with only one for the entire year of 1957. In 1956 10 alerts were declared, while 15 were necessary in 1955.

Revolt Report Queried

HONG KONG (AP)—Residents of Macao reported today that everything appeared quiet on nearby Lappa following unconfirmed and conflicting reports of an uprising on the tiny Communist island.

An American and a Chinese who returned from Macao this morning said they saw and heard nothing of the reported disturbance at the Wanchai People's Commune. Lappa is about half a mile from Macao in the West River delta separating the Portuguese colony from the Chinese Communist mainland.

The pro-Nationalist Hong Kong Tiger Standard said today that three young farmers were executed on Lappa Tuesday for their role in a two-hour revolt the day before.

DEATH CHEATED HIM

Voter Collapses In Polling Booth

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man collapsed and died in a polling booth here Wednesday after fighting all day for a chance to vote in the city's civic election.

Thomas Sojecki, 78, went to a polling station and was told he was not listed as the owner of property at 1427 West Fifth Avenue.

Polish-born Sojecki returned home. Then, angered because he felt someone was depriving him of his legal vote, he returned and was told again he was not listed.

He phoned his son Harvey Sykes. Harvey learned from city hall his father's name was listed as owner of a second piece of property he owned.

Mr. Sojecki collapsed and died as he marked his ballot.

NATO Talks Open

Global Strategy, Berlin Reviewed

PARIS (Reuters) — Berlin, European security and Western global strategy all were down for discussion in eight days of talks that began today with a meeting of NATO military leaders.

Following the two-day military meeting, officials from Britain, the United States, France and West Germany will meet Saturday to prepare the way for a Sunday meeting of the four countries' foreign ministers.

Then comes a full-scale conference of NATO foreign, defence and finance ministers, running from Tuesday to Thursday next week.

ALL BUT ICELAND

The chiefs of staff of all 15 NATO powers except Iceland, which has no army, were attending the military session, under the chairmanship of Norway's General Bjarne Oen.

The army chiefs were considering the annual review of the military state of the alliance and a report on NATO "burden-sharing" prepared during the last few months.

General Lauris Norstad, NATO supreme commander, has called for a minimum of 30 divisions for the NATO defence shield in central Europe, with as many as possible equipped with the most modern weapons, including nuclear arms. Just over 20 divisions are ready now, his latest report says.

TALKS ON GERMANY

Next week's NATO ministerial conference is expected to consider the possibility of a meeting with Russia for a full discussion of the whole problem of German reunification and other related questions.

The Western foreign ministers will review progress on the current Geneva talks on controlled suspension of nuclear tests and on prevention of surprise attack.

PLAN NEW FORCE

Defence ministers were expected to consider a NATO parliamentary proposal for a mobile strategic reserve ready for quick flexible movement inside or outside the NATO area without affecting the shield forces in Europe.

The chief topic for the finance ministers is the dispute between the six European Common Market countries and the other partners of the 17-nation organization for European economic co-operation over the establishment of a European free trade area.

An estimated 86,000 full-time students were in attendance at Canadian universities and colleges at Dec. 1, 1957, an increase of 11 per cent over 1956.

GENEVA PEACE PARLEY 'TOUCHY AND FRAYED'

GENEVA (Reuters)—Russia bitterly attacked the West today and accused NATO of aggressive intentions at the 25th session of the East-West conference on the prevention of surprise attack.

Conference sources said Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister V. Kuznetsov, following a speech by Canadian delegate L. Dana Wilgress, suddenly launched into a heated political statement.

The sources said Wilgress re-emphasized the defensive character of NATO but that Kuznetsov apparently was under the mistaken impression that Wilgress had imputed aggressive intentions to Russia.

This led to the Russian attack, the sources said, with the atmosphere "touchy and frayed."

Cult Dynamite Plot Disclosed by Tapes

CHATSWORTH, Calif. (AP)—Tape recordings discovered near the dynamited wreckage of the Fountain of the World monastery point to two former cult members as the bombers, police say.

Nine persons, possibly 10, were killed in Wednesday's earth-jarring explosion. The two dynamiters are believed to have shared the fate of their victims.

Detectives said Wednesday night the blast apparently was touched off by Ralph Muller, 33, and Peter Kamendoff, 42, both of Joshua Tree, Calif.

Tape recordings made by the pair the night before the dynamiting indicate they were angry at the leader of the cult, Krishna Vanta, and wanted to "bring him to justice," officers said.

TAPED FAREWELLS

The tapes, an hour-long recital of grievances against Krishna and the cult, also were described as farewell messages, and detectives believe the men blew themselves up deliberately.

Vanta, a barefooted, self-styled-mystic, five of his flock and two children, were killed in the explosion. One and perhaps two other bodies also have been recovered. The violent explosion and the fire that followed made identification nearly impossible.

Muller and Kamendoff were seen in an argument with Vanta about an hour before the blast. Details of the quarrel were not known.

But the two tapes helped. The recordings were found in Muller's truck, parked near the cult's 29-acre colony in Box Canyon, about 30 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

After listening to them, officers pieced together this story:

Teamsters Aim At New Target

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Teamsters' Union will start an organization drive early next year among the 10,000,000 city, county and state employees in the United States.

"I believe all Americans have the right to representation," said Teamster president James Hoffa.

"We believe that if the AFL-CIO is so lax in its responsibility to organize the unorganized in this field who are seeking organization we should extend our help to assist them in getting better wages and working conditions."

STILL SHUN AFL-CIO

The teamsters were expelled by the AFL-CIO last year on corruption charges. Teamster directors, meeting here, have said they are not planning to seek reconciliation.

Henry Feinstein, president of New York's Teamsters local 237 and superintendent of transportation for the Borough of Manhattan, reported great success among New York city employees.

POLICE TEST

He announced a test case is due next week when a veteran New York policeman "will present a checkoff card for his dues."

If the policeman loses his job, the Teamsters will employ him as an organizer, Feinstein said. He reported 3,000 other policemen have signed checkoff cards.

Bells jingled "put something in the pot" as Salvation Army Christmas Cheer kettles went up on city streets today. Contributions last year provided 329 hampers for needy families, food and clothing for children and more than 1,000 Christmas treats for shut-ins.

"WHEN I was a child in the 1950s," said the Katherine of... 1996, "my father used to read aloud to us on Christmas night. You see, when he was a child, his father used to read aloud to the family on Christmas evening, and, as Dad grew older, he wanted to do the same for us. Sort of family tradition.

Ruth

"I remember it so clearly, as one does remember the happenings of one's childhood. I can still see the lovely spacious room with the Christmas tree in the corner, and the prettiest cards ranged along the mantelpiece.

"I can't remember all the books he read from in the different years, but I remember the queer one about the old Czech peasant who wandered round for half a lifetime in New Siberia and the northern parts of the Arctic Ocean. Dad chose it that Christmas because a family of boys was with us, and he knew it would appeal to them.

"Some of it was rather old for me, but I remember a bit about the coming of the cold when the writer was on an island off the coast of New Siberia. He spent a whole winter there in a cave near the shore, and, in vivid words, he described how the sea froze over.

"At first, he said, the sea tossed to and fro with a gentle swishing sound. Then came the dreadful frigid frosts. The sea grew quieter and quieter. The waves grew smaller and calmer until, after a few days, the water was quite smooth.

"There was no trace of ice yet. But, one early evening, tiny stars of light were leap-

YOUR HEALTH

Water, Water!

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

One of the medical facts staunchly believed in by perhaps a million people is that of drinking-unnecessary water. Many persons are sure that in order to be healthy, one should each day drink eight glasses of water.

Alvarez

For many years I tried hard to find out where the idea had originated, but I never could run down the source. I do not know of any eminent physician who advocates the practice, and I could never see the logic of it.

I know that most people have an idea that the extra water "flushes" the kidneys, but that is an ancient concept. Today, we know that if a person drinks eight glasses of unneeded water, his heart has to work hard to pump it around, and his kidneys have to work hard to get rid of it. And in the body there are many ways in which this unwanted water can be a troublemaker and a nuisance.

My dear old professor of physiology at Harvard, the eminent Dr. Walter B. Cannon, who wrote the world's great book on homeostasis, or those many regulating forces that keep our body chemistry on an even keel, had no use for the fad of drinking extra water. He used to say to me that the Good Lord has given us a thirst to tell us exactly how much water we require at any time for the chemical needs of our body. To take any more or any less our thirst tells us to drink seemed to him to be folly.

I remembered well two patients who early showed me some of the troubles we people can get into if we drink much more water than we need. The first person was a man who complained of a distressing insomnia. He said he was awakened six or ing like little points of fire about a foot above the water.

"After several days of this great frost, there was a rumbling and a crackling that spread for miles and miles. An icy pulp began to form. Gradually it grew thicker and clotted into chunks of ice. The chunks moved closer and closer, and then, almost in a second, the ice was clear across the sea as far as the eye could reach.

"It was the noise when the sea first froze over," said Katherine. "The tides, which rise as much as 30 or 40 feet, burst the ice for the first few days. In the bays where the ice stretched from shore to shore, it couldn't hold up when the water went down, and the whole bay broke in two.

"I remember a bit about how the ice suddenly gave way before the thrust of the tide, and, near the shore, pieces of it were thrown upon the rocks. It was like thunder claps or a long spell of gunfire.

"His queer life in the cave," said Katherine, "losing count of time, waiting for the Polar night to end. The strangest of it, the huge, dark, icy surface of the ocean when, in March, he ventured out of his cave, and watched for what he called the Arctic Bird to appear.

The bird was white, he said, and always flew alone and very high. The sun would shine on it, you see, though all below was still in shadow.

"I'll never forget the description," said Katherine. "The shining bird appearing from below the dark horizon."

(The book is "Thirty Years in the Golden North." It's by Jan Welz, translated by Paul Selver. The Foreword is by Karel Capek. eight times every night and had trouble getting to sleep again. For a while I was puzzled, and then I learned that each time he waked it was because he had to empty his bladder.

When I asked him how much liquid he took with his supper, he said, "Eight glasses of water." When I asked him why he took this, he said because a "health faddist" he knew had talked him into it. I told him to quit drinking the water, and that was the end of his "insomnia."

The next patient was a woman who had come all the way from Georgia to see me at the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota. Her trouble was that for two months she had a severe diarrhea for which no cause could be found. Her doctors had been unable to find any drug or diet that would help her in the least. She had to get up out of bed several times a night.

After all the usual studies had failed to show anything wrong with her digestive tract, I was stumped; I just could not guess what was wrong. But then, fortunately, as I chatted with her, the fact came out that for two months she had been drinking eight glasses of unwanted water a day.

Some neighbor had talked her into doing it. I stopped the water-drinking, and instantly the diarrhea was gone.

All of which, I hope, will convince some of my readers that it isn't always a good thing for a man to tinker at a mechanism, the workings of which are unknown to him.

People might remember that there are a number of desert animals which get along well after week without any water at all. They get their water out of the grasses and other foods which they eat.

I have known some very healthy athletes—men and women—who for some reason or other did not have any thirst for water. Even on a hot summer day I have seen them eat a meal without once touching the glass of water beside their plate!

Rail Subsidy Coming?—Pearson Thinks So

WINNIPEG (CP)—Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson speculated Wednesday night the federal government may introduce a subsidy to the railways to combat the inequities of the freight rate structure.

He was commenting in a public address on government announcements from Ottawa that the Progressive Conservatives have formulated a plan to remove part of the freight rate burden from the Prairie and Maritime provinces.

"Why didn't they do that three or four weeks ago, before they decided to approve a 17-per-cent freight rate increase?" he asked.

ELECTION MEETING

The Liberal leader was speaking in suburban North Kildonan in support of Anton Weselak, Liberal candidate in the Dec. 15 federal by-election in Springfield. North Kildonan lies within the southern boundary of the Springfield riding.

Mr. Pearson said the railways had told the government last July they wanted an increase in freight rates to grant employees higher wages.

"The government had adequate warning but did nothing about it until a strike date was announced. They acted in an atmosphere of emergency..."

over something they had known about for a year."

He said the government had appointed a committee to make a study of the inequities of the freight rate structure when a study was already being made by a committee appointed by the former Liberal government.

Mr. Pearson said Liberals opposed the freight rate increase. They sought instead a complete investigation of all transportation facilities. He said a short-term subsidy could have been granted to the railways while the investigation was in progress.

$30 Million Short-Term Grant Hinted

TORONTO (CP)—The Star says the federal cabinet has decided to give Canada's major railways a short-term subsidy of $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 to ease the freight rate burden on the Maritimes and western Canada.

In an Ottawa dispatch, The Star says the recent 17-per-cent increase in freight rates is expected to be reduced to 8½ per cent or 10 per cent as a result of the proposed subsidy.

The subsidy will be for a 12 or 13-month period ending in December, 1959, The Star says. It would be given to the CPR and CNR on condition they reduce freight rates on commodities shipped to and from western Canada and the Maritimes.

IMMIGRATION CUT SHARPLY BY CURBS

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration to Canada in the first nine months of 1958 dropped sharply to 100,131 from 244,266 in the corresponding period last year, the immigration department reported today.

Arrivals from the British Isles — the largest group — totalled 22,620, down from 99,081 a year ago.

Officials forecast that total 1958 immigration will be about 125,000 compared with 282,164 in 1957 when arrivals were the highest since 1913. Then 400,870 immigrants entered the country.

Immigration in 1958 was cut by restrictions imposed in July, 1957, in the face of heavy winter unemployment. These restrictions will remain in effect during the winter.

Nobel Prize Winners Honored

STOCKHOLM (AP)—King Gustav VI of Sweden Wednesday handed three Soviet nuclear physicists $41,420 from the fortune of one of the world's most famous capitalists—Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite.

Nobel prizes in medicine and physiology were divided among three Americans, George Beadle, Edward L. Tatum and Joshua Lederberg. Frederick Sanger, of Britain, received the chemistry prize for his pioneering work on insulin.

Missing from the ceremony was the 1938 winner in literature, Russian poet-novelist Boris Pasternak, the author of the novel "Doctor Zhivago". He declined the award after a flood of condemnation from Soviet writers and newspapers.

In a brief announcement, Dr. Ganders Osterling, permanent secretary of the Royal Swedish Academy which chose Pasternak, said his decision to decline the prize "naturally does not change the validity of the award". The $41,420 money award went back into the Nobel fund, but Pasternak's diploma and gold medal are held in trust for him in case he ever accepts them.

Prof. Kai Siegbahn, a previous Nobel winner in physics, introduced the three Russians, P. A. Cerenkov, I. M. Frank and Igor Tamm.

They were honored for discovery of or work on the "Cherenkov effect," the effect of radium radiation on various fluids.

The prize for the three American winners was for riddles of heredity. Dr. Lederberg of the University of Wisconsin received half, the medicine and physiology award. The other half was shared by Dr. Tatum of New York's Rockefeller Institute and Dr. Beadle of the California Institute of Technology.

WALTER REUTHER
... "more unity"

Labor Party Rejected By Reuther

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter Reuther says organized labor in the United States is committed to work within the existing two-party system rather than form its own political party.

Reuther, an AFL-CIO vice-president and president of the Auto Workers Union, commented at a press conference Wednesday on a suggestion made in New York, Tuesday, by AFL-CIO president George Meany that labor may form its own party.

"I think a labor party is wrong in terms of America's social structure," said Reuther. "It only would further fragmentize our society. What we need is less division and more unity."

Buildings Shake in 'Frisco Quake

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An earthquake jolted San Francisco and a radius of up to 50 miles early today but damage appeared to be minor.

It broke dishes and cracked a wall or two—but no injuries were reported.

The jolt hit at 1:52 a.m. PST and triggered a flood of calls from startled residents to newspapers and police and radio stations.

"It was a fairly strong shake and probably centred south-west of suburban Daly City," said Dr. Don Tocher, University of California seismologist who was awakened by the shock and hurried to his laboratory at Berkeley across the bay.

BUILDINGS SHAKE

Buildings shook for several seconds in downtown San Francisco with the rolling motion of the quake.

Dr. Tocher said his instruments recorded the shock for about six minutes. He thought it probably was an after-shock of a heavy earthquake centred on the San Andreas fault under Daly City March 22, 1957. That quake caused widespread damage and that was the fault that caused San Francisco's 1906 disaster.

Minor jolts have hit the area the last two mornings. They caused no damage but aroused sleepers.

Probe Ordered Into Murder Hearing Delay

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—A police magistrate in suburban Burnaby Wednesday ordered an inquiry into delays in bringing to trial three interior men held at Oakalla Prison since early October on a murder charge.

The three—Larry Popoff, 23, his brother, Harry Popoff, 19, and John Popoff, 27, a cousin, have appeared in Burnaby police court weekly since Oct. 15. They were transferred from Trail, B.C., to Oakalla to await preliminary hearings.

Deputy magistrate Douglas Hume ordered the Crown Wednesday to submit a report on why it has been necessary to ask the court for 10 one-week remands. The three were remanded Wednesday to Dec. 17.

They are charged with murder in the death of Clarence Garrett, 36, at Kinnaird, B.C., Oct. 5.

Charges Dropped

PRINCE RUPERT—A man held in jail for nine months without trial was freed Wednesday of morality charges against him.

Judge W. A. Schultz granted a Crown request for a stay of proceedings on two charges of indecent assault on a male against Joseph Benedict Gerard of Cassiar, B.C. Attorney-General Robert Bonner has asked for a report on the case.

Fatal Skid

NELSON — Ross-Perrin of Calgary was killed Wednesday when his 1958 car slid off the highway skirting Kootenay Lake near Creston and dropped 75 feet down the bank.

A motorist following Perrin's car said, "his brake lights went on at a corner then the car went straight ahead and off the road." Fresh snowfall had made driving hazardous, RCMP said.

The accident occurred close to a spot where a Greyhound bus slid 100 feet into the lake in December, 1952. Three people lost their lives.

Trucker Drowned

POWELL RIVER — George Humphreys, 53, of nearby Gilles Bay, was drowned Wednesday when his truck plunged off a road into a slough.

Pile Driver Fire

GIBSON—Fire caused $5,000 damage to the superstructure of a pile driver employed on a federal government harbor project here Wednesday night.

The hull of the pile driver, owned by Greenlees Pile Driving Company of Vancouver, was not damaged. The firm is building a breakwater at the dock and has been on the job about two weeks.

Newspaper Probe Gets Results

OLYMPIA (AP)—Governor Albert Rosellini has fired Lloyd K. Nelson, director of the state department of general administration.

The action followed an investigation by the Seattle Times of state purchasing practices in the department which buys millions of dollars of items annually for various state agencies.

Charles Hodde, member of the state tax commission, was appointed to take over Nelson's job immediately.

In a prepared statement, Rosellini said he has been aware for some time that the state's present system of purchasing is "haphazard."

The chief executive commended the Times investigation of state purchasing practices.

Full findings of the Times study have not yet been made known, but Ed Guthman, head of a three-man team who has been conducting the study, said they found favoritism, lack of competition and irregularities.

Aluminum production in the United States is expected to total more than 800 million pounds by 1960, compared with 250 million pounds in 1950.

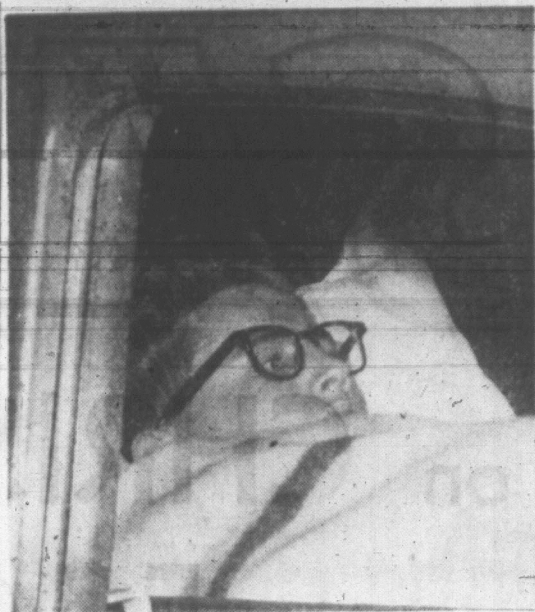

Round-World BBC Program On Christmas

LONDON (CP) — Speakers from various parts of the Commonwealth will be heard in a round-the-world radio program preceding the Queen's Christmas Day message to her peoples.

The program, sponsored by the BBC, will be titled "The Seekers" and will include a talk by J. A. D. McCurdy, former lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia, about his historic airplane flight at Baddeck, N.S., in 1910—the first flight by a British subject.

Another air pioneer, Sir Geoffrey de Havilland, will talk about his first airplane and Sir John Cockcroft, director of Britain's atomic energy research program, will describe the first splitting of the atom in 1932.

From northern Queensland, Australia, N. G. McConachy will recall how eight Australians stumbled on a rich uranium strike when their car broke down. From Nigeria, listeners will hear a description of life in the leper settlement at Uzuakoli.

SUCCESSFUL ENDING to fast run by HMCS New Waterford came at HMCS Naden hospital Friday night when surgeons operated on AB John Schultz, who was stricken with appendicitis while the frigate was returning from exercises in the San Francisco area. New Waterford was authorized to proceed at full speed to Esquimalt, averaged 16 knots in choppy water over a 20-hour period. Schultz was transferred from ship to hospital by navy ambulance, above. 275 Escape Flames

LAVAL DES RAPIDES, Que. (CP)—All residents of the provincial headquarters of the Roman Catholic order of Christian Brothers, including 40 aged invalids, were evacuated safely Wednesday night when fire broke out in the old structure.

More than 275 persons were escorted from the building, called Mont-de-la-Salle, in this town about seven miles north of Montreal. The blaze, of unknown origin, burned fiercely for more than three hours before being brought under control.

Firemen from four Montreal stations helped the overworked Laval des Rapides forces to check the fire.

RELAXES AT HOT SPRINGS

John D. 'In the Soup'

WAIKAEKI, New Zealand (CP) — A 250-mile drive through some of New Zealand's most spectacular scenery today brought Prime Minister Diefenbaker to this hot springs resort for 2½ days of rest.

The Canadian leader, an ardent fisherman, would not even commit himself in advance to a fishing outing for rainbow trout on nearby Lake Taupo.

Instead, after 45 days of world travel, he asked that Friday be left free for him to decide on the spur of the moment whether he will fish, go sightseeing among the geysers, take a hot springs bath, or simply rest.

On the drive from Wellington Mr. Diefenbaker literally found himself in the soup when he stopped for lunch in the officers mess at the New Zealand Air Force base at Ohakea.

The feature of the menu was Creme Diefenbaker Supreme—creamed asparagus soup with oysters.

"The one position a politician doesn't want to be in is in the soup," he said in a brief thank you speech.

SKINDIVER RESCUE SQUAD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sixteen experienced skindivers have formed a special squad to assist RCAF search and rescue centre here in rescue operations.

Gino Gemma, a representative of the B.C. Council of Diving Clubs, told B.C. Safety Council Wednesday the men would be on call to the RCAF at all times on a volunteer basis.

Bennett Pledges Kootenays First Power From Columbia

The first power developed from the Columbia River project will go to the Kootenay district, Premier Bennett said Thursday evening.

"We want the Kootenays to have first call on that power for new industries," the premier told a press conference in his office.

He again insisted that both the Columbia River and the Peace River projects will be needed to meet the power needs of the province over the next 20 years.

He said that the Columbia and Peace River projects could be developed simultaneously.

"We will need all this power in the next 20 years, and I would like to see it used in B.C. The federal government would benefit from income tax and the provincial government from the 5 per cent sales tax.

"If you create industry in B.C. it creates new revenue for both federal and provincial governments," he said.

The premier added that he believed the Peace River development would help the federal government to make "the right arrangements" with U.S. for downstream benefits from the Columbia development.

ANTARCTIC RESCUE BID

LONDON (Reuters) — Two Soviet planes are going to the rescue of the crew of a Belgian aircraft which has crashed in the Antarctic, the Soviet news agency Tass said today.

The Soviet planes, equipped with skis, first will fly to the Australian Antarctic base, refuel there and take off for the area where the Belgian aircraft went down.

He said he still planned to meet Prime Minister Diefenbaker in Ottawa for talks on the Columbia development, but the original date, Dec. 20, had been postponed as Mr. Diefenbaker will not be in Ottawa at that time.

"His secretary will try to arrange a suitable date later on."

The premier said he also hoped to arrange a meeting with the new governor of Alaska.

Towards the close of his conference, the premier produced a financial statement made by the Ontario Government which showed an unfunded debt of $1,285,000,000.

"Over and above that they have contingent liabilities amounting to $1,326,000,000."

He claimed the B.C. Power Commission "is doing what the Ontario Hydro Commission has been doing for years—yet no one criticizes them."

STUDENTS SPLIT OVER CROWE ISSUE

WINNIPEG (CP)—The controversy over the firing of history professor Harry S. Crowe in a dispute involving an intercepted personal letter continues to boil at Winnipeg's United College amid increasing demand for a judicial inquiry.

Some 225 United College students issued a statement Wednesday saying they remained loyal to the college and its principles, and earnestly desire that justice be done.

This latest statement from the students of the embattled institution criticized 22 other students who announced earlier they were transferring to the parent University of Manitoba.

Meanwhile, 49 other students staged an orderly protest march to the Manitoba Legislative Building where ceremonies were being held to mark the 10th anniversary of the universal declaration of human rights.

11 CALLED NKURUMAH A 'LACKEY OF LONDON'

Delegate Hustled Out of Ghana

ACCRA, Ghana (UPI) — The government hustled one of the delegates to the All-African Conference out of the country Wednesday for calling Ghana Premier Kwame Nkrumah a lackey of London in a speech to be delivered today.

Prince Zakarin of Mauritania was put aboard a plane by police after the conference steering committee sighted a copy of his speech.

The speech violently criticized Ghana for remaining in the British Commonwealth of Nations. It accused West Africans generally of being "stooges of the imperialists."

Zakarin, who represented the small left-wing "Etat Major de la Mauritanie," put up a strong protest when police arrived at his hotel to chairman Tom Mboya for officers paid no heed. They carry out the government de- help. Mboya told police the put Zakarin on a plane bound for Abidjan where he could portation order. expulsion of an invited dele- for Abidjan where he could get a connecting flight home. He called on conference gate seemed unseemly, but

Arch Needed All His Cunning To Retain World Ring Crown

Moore Floored Four Times; KO's Durelle In 11th

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP) — Ageless Archie Moore's amazing recovery after four floorings by Canada's Yvon Durelle opened the way today for a repeat of perhaps the most spectacular light-heavyweight title bout in boxing's history.

Durelle, the brawling 29-year-old fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., went down three times before finally succumbing Wednesday night after 49 seconds of the 11th round.

The wild, savage battle, in which Moore was toppled three times in the first round — two of them official knock-downs — had the paid-attendance crowd of 8,848 in near-hysteria in Montreal Forum.

The end for Durelle, whose uncertainty and hesitancy may have cost him the title, built up from the sixth round. The remarkable Archie, calling on all the courage and experience of his long ring career, came back in a magnificent display of punishing rights and lefts.

After it was over the champion from San Diego, whose age is somewhere between 41 and 49, said he wouldn't mind meeting Durelle again in Montreal.

Manager Jack Kearns had visions of championship bouts ranging from middleweight to heavyweight.

He would like Moore to have a crack at the middleweight title held by Sugar Ray Robinson or at Floyd Patterson's heavyweight championship. He was ready, too, for a return match with Durelle in Montreal — at the Montreal Royals baseball park, in warmer weather for an open-air show, where a crowd of 25,000 or more could be accommodated.

ARCHIE MOORE... and still champion!

MOORE ADMITS

He Hurt Me Every Time

By JOHN YORSTON

MONTREAL (CP)—Archie Moore sat in his Forum dressing room Wednesday night, his benign exterior belying the blood-curdling battle he'd just been through to retain his world light-heavyweight boxing crown.

Downed three times in the first round and again in the fifth by Canada's Yvon Durelle, the champ sat unruffled and grinning.

"No, I'm not tired," said the old ring magician who knocked out the husky fisherman in the 11th round, "but he's a very strong man. He hurt me every time he hit me."

Moore, who is somewhere in his 40s, said each of four knockdowns he took was legitimate—"he caught me clean every time he caught me." Referee Jack Sharkey ruled one first-round drop was a slip, however.

The champ said he'd be willing to meet Durelle, 29, again. He said he would also like a crack at heavyweight king Floyd Patterson.

"A return match here in the summer, at the ball park, would be a great draw," said Moore's manager, Jack (Doc) Kearns. "It would be another great fight. Durelle's a good, game kid."

"AWFULLY ROCKY" "I knew I had him after the fourth round," said Moore, "but before that I was awfully rocky."

"Durelle is one of the very top light-heavyweights I have ever fought. I have to feel sorry he lost."

"But of course I have to look out for myself," he hastily added.

Moore was reminded he had set a knockout record of 127, beating the late Young Stribling's mark of 126. He said he waited for a big fight "so that the record would be legitimately broken by Archie Moore."

On the other side of the forum, Durelle's sobbing put the damper on newspapermen and dressing room sympathizers.

"I was trying too hard, that was my mistake. I was too eager," he said.

WARF ON REMATCH His co-managers — Chris Shaban of Moncton, N.B., and Lew Myers of New York — hesitated to discuss a return match.

But Durelle chimed in: "I wasn't scared tonight. I'd be less scared if I were to meet him again."

Did he think he had Moore after the first round? "I was never sure of anything of that sort. He was really smart in that round. He covered himself so well right after coming back after each count that I never had a chance for a follow-through after my best blows."

Grey Cup Champions Finish With Surplus

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Grey Cup champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers operated at an estimated surplus of $15,022 for the 1958 Western Football Conference season.

In his report to the club's annual meeting Wednesday night, Gordon Lawson, club vice-president and chairman of the budget committee, said some figures estimated as final totals are not yet in from conference and Grey Cup playoffs.

The club's estimated total revenue was $592,961, against record expenses of $577,939. Last year, Bombers, then Grey Cup finalists, showed an estimated loss of $11,456. Lawson reported Wednesday night the final figure for 1957 deficit was $12,617.

Dazed and bleeding, Yvon Durelle is helped to feet by referee Jack Sharkey after being counted out in 11th round of bout for world light-heavyweight championship at Montreal Friday night. Durelle had

Egan's Grading System Pays Cats Quick Profit

Cougars 5, Spokane 3

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Pat Egan has decided to carry all grade "A" eggs in one basket. For the time being, at least, the Victoria Cougar coach believes that's the surest way of assuring his company a greater profit on the Western Hockey League market.

Egan's grading system resulted in a quick sale Wednesday night when Spokane Flyers came shopping at Memorial Arena. Flyers lost out on the transaction, 5-3, but there's no visible means of obtaining a refund.

Egan singled out his three top point-getters for duty on a single unit and the line of Gord Haworth, Stan Bialuk and Al Nicholson responded by figuring in three of the team's five goals.

Bialuk and Nicholson each scored a goal and two assists, while centre-man Haworth came up with two helpers. Gordie Wilson marked his season's debut by finishing off a three-way play with linemates Enio Scisizzi and Doug Macaulley for one goal, while Jim Hay and George Ford, who scored his 14th of the season, were the other Cougar marksmen. Bev Bell, Ching Johnson and Max Meklik were the Spokane snipers.

While the Haworth line picked up the major share of points, Egan's shuffling of forwards for this game did produce one pleasant surprise—balance. All three Victoria lines performed in as equal a fashion as one could expect in a game marked by extremely close checking.

They maintained steady pressure on the Spokane goal and only the work of Emile Francis, the former Cougar netminder who was sold to Spokane, prevented Egan's charges from wrapping the game up as early as the second period.

Cougar Defence Had Several Lapses The display of all three Cougar lines prompted Egan to announce that they will remain intact for Saturday's meeting at Memorial Arena with Winnipeg Warriors.

"We're going to have three good lines," said Egan. "They'll stay as they are if they continue to play like they did tonight."

"My only problem now is to settle that defence."

With four extra players on the payroll, Egan's problem of trimming the roster still remains unsolved. He is not expected to make any cuts until the weekend.

Francis, who was injured late in the first period, was called upon to make 27 saves while the travel-weary Spokes managed only 23 shots on Marcel Pelletier.

Francis suffered a partial dislocation in his shoulder when he tried to make the save on Nicholson's goal. The Cat retired to the dressing room but returned to play a standout game.

Pelletier, although not tested too often, had to be on his toes to cover up several lapses by the Cougar defence. The Spokane line of Meklik, Bell and ex-Cougar Blinky Boyce was particularly effective for the visitors.

Referee Bing Jukes called 13 penalties in the game, including nine in the final period. Bell and Victoria's Don McLeod, playing his first game after being sidelined for four weeks with a knee injury, received majors for a brief flare-up late in the game.

Hunters Reap Record Crop In B.C. Woods VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia nimrods reaped a record deer harvest in the 1958 hunting season, bagging an estimated 60,000 deer.

This is 9,000 more than the 51,000 taken in the record year of 1955 and nearly 13,000 more than the 47,400 taken last year.

Exact number of hunters out and deer taken during 1958 won't be known until sometime in February.

Chief game biologist Dr. Jim Hatter said Wednesday this year's take is as good a cropping as the province can expect under present limited access and hunting pressure.

The 1958 season also was a record for moose through Cache Creek checking station, with 3,047 moose tallied, compared with 2,755 last year.

Royals Cash In On Penalty

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — New Westminster Royals took advantage of a major penalty to veteran Bill Mosienko to score a decisive goal and go on to defeat Winnipeg Warriors, 6-2, before 1,200 fans here Wednesday night.

Royals scored the only goal in the first period of the Western Hockey League contest, but Winnipeg came back to tie it up 1-1 in the second period. In the third period, New Westminster outscored the Warriors 5-1.

Pat Hannigan and Arnie Schmautz with two goals and one assist each led the Royals. The other New Westminster goals came from Max McNab and defenceman John Yanchuk. It was Yanchuk's first goal of the season.

ONLY ARLO Winnipeg's goals were scored by Pete Kapusta and Barry Ross.

Referee Vern Buffey handed out a total of 33 minutes in penalties, 21 minutes to Winnipeg. All New Westminster's penalties were accounted for by Arlo Goodwin, who drew a minor and a misconduct when he tangled with Mosienko in the third period.

Mosienko's penalties—a major and a misconduct—were costly to the Warriors. The score was 1-1 when he and Goodwin left the ice. When Mosienko returned it was 5-2 for New Westminster, although only one of the goals was scored while Winnipeg was short-handed.

Italians Fine Listless Duo

ROME (AP) — Two leading Italian boxers have been fined $1,000 each for allegedly failing to do their best in a title bout.

The two — Italian middleweight champion Italo Scorticini and challenger Giancarlo Garbelli — met for the Italian title in Milan Nov. 29. The scheduled 12-rounder was stopped in the ninth round. The referee said he suspected "connivance" by the two boxers.

The disciplinary commission of the Italian Boxing Federation cleared the boxers of the "connivance" charge, saying there was insufficient proof.

But the commission imposed the fines and said the boxers "failed to live up to their professional duties, showing a fighting spirit inadequate to the importance of the match."

Annual Paddle Meet Annual Victoria Table Tennis Association club tournament will be held at Club Sirocco Friday and Saturday evenings.

Play will start at 7 p.m. each day with men's singles and mixed doubles expected to hold the greatest interest in the ten event program.

Shoulders Stuck on Both Animals The two titles earned him $2,257 in prize money. Last year at Lewiston, Idaho, a bronc bounced him so savagely his collarbone was torn loose. Shoulders finished the painful ride, bandaged his shoulder tightly and climbed on another bucking horse the next day.

Jim doesn't say rodeoing is dangerous. He says it "probably is the most punishing of sports." He has broken both arms twice, both knees twice and an ankle. His collarbone has been broken or pulled loose three times.

This may be Jim's last full season as a rodeo rider.

"It's a young man's game," he said. "The falls seem harder, and it's getting to where I have to tie myself together to get on anything."

"I always said I planned to quit when I was 30."

OWNERS 11 WORLD CROWNS

KING OF RODEO COWBOYS

Jim's the Toughest of 'Tough Hands'

HENRYETTA, Okla. (AP) — Jim Shoulders doesn't throw much bull and he does not let many throw him. He won't tell you this, but he is the toughest of the "tough hands." He's the king of the rodeo cowboys, the most bone-crunching sport to be found.

He has won 11 world championships, three more than any other cowboy. He has earned more money on bucking bulls and broncos than any other cowboy, and he is the only man to win a triple crown more than one year. For the last two years, Shoulders has won championships in wild bull riding, bareback riding and all-around performance. And he is nearing a third straight triple crown this year.

Shoulders has been competing in rodeos for half of his 30 years. He has earned about $350,000 in prizes and endorsements, plus a roomful of saddles, buckles and trophies. Why has he bucked higher than all the rest? Partly it is the keen sense of balance and quick reflexes of the 5-foot-11, 160-pound native Oklahoman. But more than that, it probably is due to his toughness, dogged determination and daring.

A competing cowboy will tell you that rules don't require a rider to spur bucking bulls. But Jim is "raking them high" every jump of the ride.

"He's been bucked at times because he won't stop spurring," says one cowboy.

Going into the last "go-around" at the Madison Square Garden rodeo in early October, Shoulders needed only to stay aboard his bronc and bull to win both events.

"But he went out and spurred like crazy," said Sharron Shoulders, his wife. "That's just the way he is."

Shoulders stuck on both animals and the two titles earned him $2,257 in prize money.

NORM ULLMAN

By The Canadian Press
Like all great National Hockey League players, Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings lends some greatness to those around him.
The big right-winger has played with a variety of centres and left wings during his 12 years in the NHL and nearly always those linemates have ended up close to the top in league scoring along with Howe.
This season his linemates are centre Norm Ullman and left-winger Alex Delvecchio, both having the greatest seasons of their careers, and Wednesday night it was Delvecchio who picked up Howe's rebound and scored to give Detroit a 2-1 victory over New York Rangers.

Who Said Gene Was Too Small?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five years ago Gene Brito, of all people, was told he was too small to play for Washington Redskins in the National Football League.
There must have been other reasons. Brito stood six-foot-two and weighed around 230 pounds.
He was stung by the brush off and headed for Canada, where he played in 1954 for

Ray Robinson May Accept London Offer

LONDON (AP) — Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson was cabled a "fabulous" offer Wednesday to defend his title against Britain's Terry Downes in London next summer.
The offer, believed to be around $150,000, was tendered by British fight promoter Jack Solomons. Solomons promoted Tuesday night's bout in which Spider Webb of Chicago stopped Downes in eight rounds.
In New York, George Gairford, Robinson's representative, said: "If Sugar fights next year, he might be receptive to such an offer. We will consider all offers and $150,000 is in the right neighborhood."
Robinson has been idle since last March when he regained the crown from Carmen Basilio in Chicago on a 15-round decision.
Solomons said he would like to arrange the match for outdoors in June—either at Wembley or Twickenham. Both places hold about 60,000.

Trimble Trying To Sign Austin

HAMILTON (CP) — Coach Jim Trimble of Hamilton Tiger-Cats said Wednesday that halfback Bill Austin of Rutgers College, named last week to The Associated Press All-American team is on the Ti-Cats' negotiating list.
Trimble said he will try "very hard" to sign Austin to a Hamilton contract.
Austin was the second-highest scorer in U.S. college football this season with 106 points.

READY TO RETIRE
The Redskins changed coaches, from Curly Lambeau to Joe Kahanich, and Brito came back to stardom. Now the all-pro defensive end is about to retire amid such tributes as this from Vice-President Richard Nixon:
"As a Redskins' fan I will admit I am a bit prejudiced, but I believe most objective sports observers will agree that Gene Brito has been the best defensive end of the National Football League . . . not only was he a fine player technically, but in addition he inspired the whole team with his spirit."

HONORED BY FANS

Nixon will be at Griffith Stadium for Gene Brito Day next Sunday. He will present the departing Redskin a car paid for with dollars and dimes clipped in by Brito fans.
Sunday's game against Philadelphia Eagles will be Brito's last, unless he is picked again for the all-star pro bowl classic next month. He was voted the outstanding defensive player in that event last January.
Brito will teach social studies and physical education at his old school, Lincoln High, in Los Angeles. He also wants to try coaching.

Bass Collects Triple Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Bass, College of Pacific's hard-running halfback, amassed major college football's triple crown in 1958, winning the scoring title and the rushing and total yardage crowns.
Final statistics showed today Bass accomplished a feat that was last performed in 1937 by Byron (Whizzer) White of Colorado.
Bass accumulated 1,361 yards on 205 rushing plays—an all-time high of 663 yards a carry, for 200 or more rushes. The 21-year-old junior collected 79 yards on 13 passes for a total offence of 1,440 yards. He scored 116 points on 18 touchdowns and eight extra points in 10 games.

Name Dietzel Coach of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Dietzel, who in four years as head coach built Louisiana State's first all-winning football team in 50 years, has been named coach of the year by his fellow members of the American Football Coaches' Association.

The 34-year-old Dietzel scored the greatest sweep in the 24-year history of the award, made by the Scripps-Howard Newspapers.

Of 618 members of the association who voted in the annual poll, 495 named Dietzel first, second and third. Nearest to him in the balloting was Forest Evashevski of Iowa's Big Ten champion team, who received only 58 votes for first place, compared to 312 for Dietzel.

Why Montreal's goalkeeper Jacques Plante won't stay in his net

On and off the ice, the Montreal Canadiens' wandering goalie seems perpetually on the verge of disaster. Sometimes it's a question of whose nerves will give out first: his or his supporters. Off the rink, Plante is just as unconventional—he used to soothe his nerves by knitting socks.

ACCUSES QUAKERS

Tony Expecting To 'Hear Plenty'

SASKATOON (CP) — Frank Boucher, general manager and coach of Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Hockey League, said Wednesday he may ask for the suspension of coach Tony Leswick of Edmonton Flyers.

Boucher made his comment in reply to a statement by Leswick that Quakers "deliberately sought to cripple" Flyers in a game in Saskatoon Saturday night. Flyers won the game 5-2. The two teams play in Edmonton Friday night.

Commenting on Leswick's statement that his remarks may result in a fine from Al Leader of Seattle, WHL president, Boucher said:

"If he doesn't hear from the president, I'm going to make sure that he does. And if he cannot substantiate his charges—and I know he can't—I'm going to ask Mr. Leader to suspend him."

Boucher added that Leswick "has no business running around making loose charges on so serious a matter. I don't like it one bit and I don't think the president will like it either."

Two Edmonton forwards, Brian Smith and Ed Diachuk, suffered knee injuries in Saskatoon Saturday night. Three other players suffered head cuts. Smith will be out of the lineup for a month to six weeks with his knee in a cast.

"I never thought," said Leswick, "that my old mentor, Frank Boucher, would resort to such tactics. But I don't know what else to think after the knee injuries to Smith and Diachuk, plus the head cuts to Don Polle, Bud MacPherson and Myron Stankiewicz."

"Undoubtedly I'll hear plenty from Mr. Leader for these accusations but I'm going to get them off my chest . . ."

"It was Adam Keller who raked up Diachuk, clipping him by throwing himself low at him the way he does."

"Smith got his when somebody steered him into the defence, and he tried to crash through between Bill Burega and Keller."

NO CRYSTAL-GAZING BY PREMIER ON VOTE

Premier Bennett will fly to Trail Saturday morning to speak in the Rossland-Trail by-election. When asked for an election forecast, the premier replied: "No... I leave that to the people." He returned to Victoria Tuesday after a visit to the B.C. interior.

Stay-Home Lull Before Storm?

TRAIL—Rossland-Trail may have been experiencing the lull before the storm Wednesday night.

Attendance at political meetings was minute.

Over 800 came out to hear the party leaders Tuesday, but on Wednesday the score was:

CCFers Robert Strachan, Arthur Turner and H. W. Herdridge — 9 listeners; Socials Kenneth Kiernan, W. E. Black and Newton Steady — 15; CCFers Leo Nimsick, Gordon Dowding and F. E. Devito — 20; Socials Ray Williston and Don Brothers — 6.

These meetings were at Trail, Warfield, Rossland and Trail, respectively.

Wednesday's Liberal meeting was 20 miles away at Castlegar, where an audience of 35 was reported. Liberal organizer Ray Perrault supported candidate Dr. M. E. Krause.

The Conservatives, headed by party leader Deane Finlayson and candidate Alex Brokenshire, went back to knocking on doors, which many politicians feel is a better way to win elections.

At Rossland's Senior Citizens' Villa, CCF candidate Devito said although all the other parties opposed socialism, he noted they had all come out for the principle of public power in development of Columbia River hydro resources.

HEALTH SERVICE HIT

He commented the CCF has long been saying a junior college was needed in the Kootenays and now Education Minister Leslie Peterson "says the same thing."

Burnaby MLA Gordon Dowding again hit at the provincial mental health service as administered by Provincial Secretary W. E. Black.

"There is a waiting list of 500 for provincial homes for the aged. A person can't get in unless someone dies. Yet a new building at Coquitlam has been vacant since last winter because Black claims he can't get staff. The way he abuses staff, he can't."

At Warfield Community Hall, Mines Minister Kiernan showed color slides taken in northern B.C. along the route of the proposed Stewart-Cassiar road.

Alberta Speed Limit To Be Uped to 65

EDMONTON (CP)—The Alberta government proposes to increase the speed limit to 65 miles an hour from the present 60 on provincial four-lane and divided highways.

The government proposes to increase truck speed to 55 miles an hour from 50. At night the limit would be 55 for cars and trucks.

RIFT REVEALED IN BY-ELECTION CAMPAIGN

B.C. Clash With Columbia Planners Looms

BY PETE LOUBON
Times Staff Reporter

TRAIL—A rift between the B.C. government and the international commission planning development of Columbia River hydro was revealed here Wednesday.

An "alarming" proposal of the International Joint Commission may spark outright opposition from B.C. if Ottawa approves it, two Social Credit cabinet ministers told a press conference in the campaign for the Dec. 15 Rossland-Trail by-election.

The proposal is "Sequence 9" of the IJC Columbia plan, said Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston and Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan.

Although the scheme hasn't been made public, Mr. Williston said IJC chairman Gen. A. G. McNaughton had outlined it for him.

"It was an optimum maximum power scheme without regard to anything else," he said.

"It conflicted with the wishes of the people of B.C. concerning flooding of arable valleys."

If Ottawa backs the plan, "I am not in position to say we'd support it," said Mr. Williston.

He said he had wired Ottawa asking if Gen. McNaughton's plan was endorsed by the federal government. Six weeks later he got a reply, saying the general was not employed to state government policy. Mr. Williston said federal officials had repeatedly refused to get together with B.C. on Columbia planning.

Any Columbia plan involving downstream benefits in the U.S. must first be negotiated on a federal level with the U.S. Once both countries had agreed, their plans would go to the B.C. government, for final decision.

"SCRAP WITH BRIGGS"

Mr. Williston, who did most of the talking, also said he and former power commission manager H. Lee Briggs had "been scrapping for two years" on the Columbia.

He said Mr. Briggs wanted the power commission alone to handle Columbia negotiations.

The ministers also would not agree Columbia power would be cheaper than Peace River power. Although they conceded transmission routes were shorter on the Columbia system, there would be downstream benefits, and financing would be cheaper for a public power scheme on the Columbia than for a private enterprise on the Peace.

When the minister referred to "scrapping with Mr. Briggs" he was asked if that did not conflict with statements by Premier Bennett that until Nov. 12, the power commission manager had been efficient and co-operative.

PUBLIC AUTHORITY

Mr. Williston said Mr. Briggs wanted to take over the minister's statutory duty to negotiate with the U.S. on the Columbia. The point of dispute, he said, was "Mr. Briggs' fundamental concept of the position of the power commission."

"The government and the premier say the Columbia will be developed for public power," he added, "and the generation will be power commission responsibility. But it will all be under a public power authority because of values beyond generation of power."

On the question of relative costs on the Peace and the Columbia, Mr. Williston said no fair estimate could be made until engineering studies are far more advanced.

NOT CHEAPER

However, he wouldn't agree with acting prime minister Howard Green that Columbia power will be cheaper.

"I live with the problem every day... I believe I have more technical knowledge at my disposal than Mr. Green has... I wouldn't make the statement which he did, that the Columbia is the cheapest source..."

He said it was true public financing is cheaper but relative installation costs and the money market at the time of construction would be determining factors and these could not be foreseen.

Nuclear Information Swap With U.S. Big Help to U.K.

LONDON (Reuters) — Informed government sources said today American co-operation in the exchange of nuclear information and in other defence spheres is proving of great value.

Britain, reluctant to spend money on weapons and means of delivering them that soon may be outdated, has to do much hard thinking before she commits a big slice of her resources in any one direction.

Government circles said there is keen appreciation of what is described as the candid and thorough way the United States has implemented the agreement to share her nuclear secrets.

PLAN DECADE AHEAD

Defence Minister Duncan Sandys and his advisers are working on Britain's annual defence review, which has to visualize probabilities at least a decade ahead. By then, developments might have ended the usefulness of supersonic bombers and intermediate-range ballistic missiles.

Britain must all the time count the cost. Her present annual defence expenditure of more than £104,000,000 is about a third of her total yearly budget.

MANY MEETINGS

The importance of caution is believed to account for many of the recent ministerial defence consultations.

These meetings have reflected high appreciation of the way the U.S. is implementing her new exchange agreement. Government sources say it has provided a vast amount of information, all of which will be absorbed and digested before the government commits itself finally to long-term defence plans.

NIGHT-TIME BAN URGED ON WOMEN TAXI DRIVERS

VANCOUVER (CP) — City council will be asked to prohibit women from driving taxis at night.

Thomas Scarr, managing director of the taxi firm here, said he will send a brief through the police department in the next few days, requesting city council to pass a bylaw to that effect.

He said the action is the result of one of his women drivers being attacked recently. The request would include all taxi companies to prevent further attacks.

New Sea Talks Proposed by UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The United Nations Assembly voted late Wednesday in favor of calling a second international conference on maritime law with the aim of reaching some type of agreement on the question of territorial waters.

Iceland, whose dispute with Britain over offshore fishing led to clashes this fall, refused to vote in favor of holding a new conference on the ground that a previous one in Geneva early this year had failed to achieve any solution on how far a country's territorial rights extend beyond its shores. The vote Wednesday was 72 to 0 with Iceland and five other countries abstaining. Iceland claimed that the question of maritime limits should be settled in the UN itself rather than handed over to an outside conference. But the assembly went along with the findings earlier this month of its legal committee which had voted in favor of another Geneva meeting. The date will be set later.

Key issue of contention is varying claims by different countries on how far their territorial limits extend. Most now observe the traditional three-mile limit but Iceland lays claim to 15 miles, which takes in an important fishing area used by British trawlers who observe only the three-mile mark.

FAIR PLIGHT EXAGGERATED, SAYS DIRECTOR

NANAIMO — Financial position of Vancouver Island Exhibition Association is not as bad as recent news releases would indicate, says Ray Knight, associate director.

According to an announcement from the city hall, the association is $107,000 in debt. Actually the debt is $133,000, Mr. Knight said, but the organization holds assets valued at more than $420,000.

Boy's Death Sparks Controversy On Right of Witnesses to Deny Aid

By DAVID COWLISHAW

Can it be evil? More specifically, can any use to which it is put be evil?

Every week across Canada thousands of persons trickle into Red Cross clinics to donate blood, good healthy fluid that will later pour strength and even life into seriously ill or dying hospital patients.

Yet in St. Boniface, Man., a mere three weeks ago 14-year-old Donald Holland died—reportedly because his parents would not allow him to receive a blood transfusion.

Donald's parents are Jehovah's Witnesses. Their beliefs forbid blood transfusions, and even while the boy was dying from a severed artery in his thigh they steadfastly refused the permission that would have permitted doctors to proceed with a treatment that might have saved the lad's life.

Two nurses wept. So did Mrs. Holland. But her conviction was stronger and the person that was Donald Holland passed from the face of the earth.

Donald Holland's death erupted in a controversy—by no means a new one—that still ripples across the country. On the prairies, in elegant Montreal mansions, in the humblest Nova Scotian fishing village—people talked.

Donald died, some said, because Almighty God meant him to die. Others blamed the doctors, or the law. Some blamed a nebulous "them." But most Manitobans, apparently, and millions of Canadians from the Pacific to the Atlantic blamed the parents.

One Big Question

The question that underlaid the debate asked: Should blood transfusions be administered to a child who might otherwise die but whose parents believe such treatment is forbidden by the Bible?

The national retort to this, pounded out in newspaper letters columns and from the terms of countless public meetings, was a quick (but sometimes qualified) "No."

Public opinion seems to have been summed up by Hamilton lawyer Gordon Sullivan. "A shocking case where a child died while a judge thought about it overnight."

Here in Victoria a spot check revealed a similar line of thought. City Jehovah's Witnesses—on this issue, at least—seem to have no friends at all.

There has been some anger, plenty of indignation. Some people have even asked the Red Cross here to "step in." But quite a few others took the Red Cross in Victoria to task for "demanding blood in defiance of the Bible," an official said.

The argument now rumbling across the land is not with the Red Cross, however. It is with the 86-year-old sect founded in Pennsylvania, the Jehovah's Witnesses.

Not By Word Alone

In Victoria many voices were raised against the group. The Rev. Douglas B. Carr of Centennial United Church, accused the Witnesses of misinterpreting the Scriptures—particularly those passages which refer to blood.

"We must interpret the Scriptures in terms of today," he said, "not in terms of centuries ago. All early writers and Jesus Himself would certainly have given every consideration to saving a life no matter what method was used. After all, in the early days there was not the knowledge of science that we have today."

Just what are these parts of the Bible that form the basis of the Witnesses' thinking on the matter of blood transfusions?

Rev. Cliff Roberts, 68-year-old English-born supervisor of four congregations representing 400 Jehovah's Witnesses in Victoria, says the sect is guided by five Biblical passages. Possibly the most well-known is Acts 15, verse 29: "That ye abstain from meats offered to idols, and from blood, and from things strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keep yourselves, ye shall do well."

Inference Taken

Mr. Roberts insists this verse is clear enough. "Its reference to abstaining from blood obviously includes transfusions," he said.

He also quoted Acts 21, verse 25:

"As touching the Gentiles which believe, we have written and concluded that they observe no such thing, save only that they keep themselves from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from strangled, and from fornication."

Two of the other three passages Mr. Roberts cited: Genesis 9:4 and Leviticus 7:27—have to do with the "eating" of blood; the other text he mentioned, Leviticus 4:17, describes a ritual where blood is "sprinkled" before the Lord.

REV. CLIFF ROBERTS... "We feel sorry about the boy's death, but we must go according to the Book."

REV. B. CARR... "misinterpretation..."

REV. A. C. HAMILL... "definitely wrong..."

Probably—although the Witnesses will not adamantly say so—their stand against blood transfusions stems mainly from Acts 15:29 alone. In any event, their interpretation of that passage is obviously not shared by the other religious denominations.

Hear the Rev. A. C. Hamill, minister of Emmanuel Baptist Church:

"We certainly do not agree with the Witnesses. Their interpretation of the Scriptures is definitely wrong, and their position regarding the boy's death was wrong. The Scriptures must be interpreted under the guidance of God's Holy Spirit."

"If the doctors felt this boy should have received a blood transfusion, who is to say they were wrong? Doctors are men of God. Jehovah's Witnesses, in my opinion, are not on the right track—they reject the deity of Christ and the Trinity; but I would not go so far as to call them cranks."

Catholics Silent

Officials of the Roman Catholic Church in Victoria declined pointblank to be drawn into the discussion. Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral similarly refused to be quoted.

"I don't want to get involved in any controversy," is how he put it, recalling the furor his remarks about Jehovah's Witnesses caused two years ago.

In a Sunday sermon Aug. 5, 1956, the dean labelled Jehovah's Witnesses, "Vicious, hateful people—a long way from the religion of the uni-two men, one aged 84 and another 80, who refused blood transfusions (because they were Jehovah's Witnesses) when doctors were urging them to accept them, "and they are still in good health."

"On the other hand, I remember a young man with a serious ailment who had gallons of blood transfused into him—and he died."

Parents 'Correct'

Asked whether Donald Holland's parents had been correct to refuse the transfusion for their son, the leader of Victoria's Jehovah's Witnesses snapped, "Well, of course they were correct."

Questioned further, he admitted that local Witnesses had met a certain amount of hostility in the wake of the Manitoba boy's death, "but they were verbal attacks, not physical. But we did not mind them. Persecution always unites a group."

Mr. Roberts, who uses 15 different translations of the Bible when he is seeking an exact meaning of a disputed passage, quickly refuted the familiar charge that Witnesses are misled in their interpretation—that they see the victims of distortion in translation of the Bible from the original Hebrew and Greek.

"There may have been some question of distortion a few years ago," he said, "but the recent finding of the Dead Sea scrolls proves the translation of the Bible that now exists is very reliable."

National Limits

Taxed with his assertion that "the clergy as a class haven't got much faith in the Bible," Mr. Roberts said the clergy of other denominations refused to use the name Jehovah (substituting God) "because they believe it to be the name of a Jewish tribal god and they believe the use of Jehovah limits the rule of God to a national people and not to the world as a whole."

He said other clergy were also wrong in their attitude toward divorce, remarking, "Anglicans and Roman Catholics are not entirely guided by God's word."

He felt the 700,000 Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world followed a more accurate interpretation of the Bible, particularly as it affected blood transfusions.

He said he had never met any Jehovah's Witnesses who had second thoughts or doubts about the validity of the sect following a case such as the Holland affair.

The Legal Issue

A question asked by many Canadians in the aftermath of the Holland boy's death was: "Why didn't the law step in?" Generally laws applying to the problem are not clearly defined. One reason is that the degree of danger to a child said to be in need of blood remains a matter of opinion. Doctors have not always been correct in saying a child would die if not given a blood transfusion.

Another factor is reluctance of governments to introduce legislation that runs contrary to minority religious beliefs. However, section 186 of the Criminal Code, which forms the basis for Quebec's approach to the question, says a parent is liable to imprisonment for up to two years if, without lawful excuse, he fails to provide the necessities of life for a child under 16.

(Mr. Roberts does not construe "necessities of life" as including blood, and goes on to point out that "Christian Scientists refuse treatment from doctors—we at least have doctors.")

Law Too Slow?

Most provinces depend on child welfare laws that permit authorities to seek a court order to make an endangered child a ward of a welfare agency. Such action may take time. H. W. White, Saskatchewan's deputy minister of welfare, describes the legal machinery as "a fairly slow-moving thing," likely to take as long as a week.

In Manitoba the government went to court in an attempt to have Donald Holland placed in the custody of welfare officials. The hearing was adjourned until the next day. Meantime the boy died.

Several provinces, notably Manitoba and New Brunswick, are reported to be giving renewed consideration to the problem. In Hamilton a doctor disclosed that in seven or eight cases he had advised giving transfusions despite objections from parents.

"I don't think there is one chance in 5,000,000 of the doctor concerned being charged with common assault," he said. "I don't see how anyone can face damages after saving a life."

Rights of Parents

But Dr. T. L. Fisher, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Medical Protective Association, has a different viewpoint:

"To the best of our knowledge, a doctor has no right to do anything to any person without his permission or, in the case of a child, parental or guardian permission."

Dr. Arthur Kelly, secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, continued on Page 27

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is approaching the pre-production stage of a multi-engine transport aircraft able to take off and land vertically with big payloads.

By next spring research may reach the stage where it will be possible to conduct air tests with some of the complicated equipment such an aircraft will need to lift itself vertically and then fly in level flight at speeds up to 500 miles an hour.

Development of such an aircraft might put the conventional helicopter out of business, except for short flights. The helicopter is a vertical riser but it is expensive to build, difficult to equip with navigation instruments and a limited payload, range and speed.

Barred Baseballer 'Cosy' Dolan Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—Alvin J. (Cosy) Dolan, once a star outfielder for New York Giants, died after a short illness Wednesday.

Dolan was barred from baseball in 1924 by Commissioner K. M. Landis for allegedly attempting to bribe Heinie Sand of Philadelphia Phillies to throw a game to the Giants.

Since then he operated night clubs on Chicago's north side during the prohibition era and in recent years served as a bailiff in the municipal court.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 30-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Laurel-Mills, aged 11, of Hobart, Indiana, for her question:

How Old Is Santa Claus?

The white-whiskered old gentleman with the red coat is not nearly as old as many of us think. In fact, he is 92 years old, which makes him younger than some human beings. The first picture of Santa Claus as we all now recognize him was made in the year 1866. It was a drawing by the American cartoonist Thomas Nast and was published in Harper's weekly magazine.

In 1882 Clement C. Moore wrote "A Visit From Saint Nicholas," a Christmas poem we will never forget. He described Santa as a right merry old elf riding in a sled drawn by eight miniature reindeer. This Santa was a tiny fellow, much smaller than the big, chubby Santa we expect nowadays. What's more, he was called Saint Nicholas.

Although our big hearty Santa is not so old, the idea behind him goes back for many centuries. The custom of a Father Christmas has been popular in many lands for a

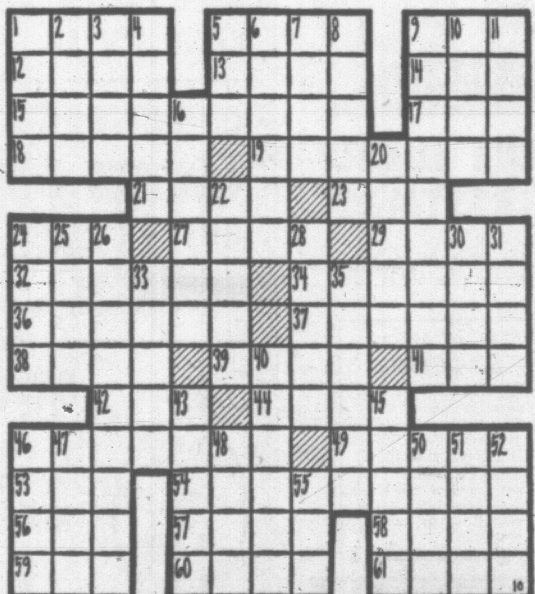

Legend 1,600 Years Old

As far as we know this generous idea goes back to the Fourth Century. At that time a mere boy was made Bishop of Myra in southwestern Turkey. His name was Nicholas. Being a young man, Bishop Nicholas was interested in young people. What's more, he had the wealth and position which enabled him to help them.

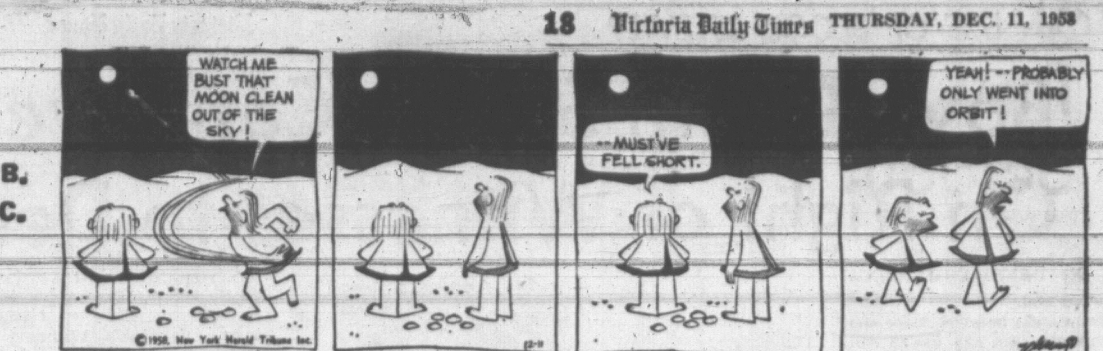

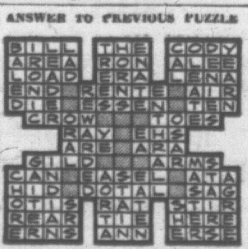

There are many stories of his kindness and generosity to young people. One concerns the three daughters of a poor nobleman. In those days a young lady could not get married unless her father could provide a sum of money called a dowry. And these unhappy girls had no dowry. Bishop Nicholas heard the sad story and hid a bag of gold where each girl was sure to find it. Perhaps this act of secret kindness way back in the Fourth Century was the beginning of the Father Christmas idea.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Rita Rombola, age 12, Bronx 72, New York, for her question: Is it possible to fall off the earth?

If you discover a way to fall off the earth, please let us know about it. Because right now, this is a very important order of business. Experts are trying very, very hard to make

From Queue to Last 'Amen' Messiah Tribute to Steed

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

The performance of Handel's "Messiah" at the Metropolitan United Church, Wednesday night, had all the earmarks of a highly special occasion, despite the fact that the Victoria Choral Society and conductor Graham Steed have only missed performing the oratorio at the Christmas season once in the past nine years.

From the moment when the audience began queuing up outside the church until the last splendid "amen" of the final chorus had died away, the atmosphere bespoke tribute to the departing conductor. Mr. Steed leaves next Thursday for his new post in Windsor, Ont.

Tribute was in the warm response of a record crowd, an officially estimated 150 standees—as well as in the heartfelt performance of choir, orchestra and soloists.

After a brief spasm of uncertainty in an opening chorus or two, the choir took a firm grip and from then on gave what is possibly the best Messiah performance of its career.

Crowd Overflowed, Refunds Promised

Due to the unprecedented record crowd that attended the Victoria Choral Society presentation of the "Messiah" at Metropolitan Church, Wednesday night, the society greatly regrets that many late-coming ticket-holders were not able to be admitted. Mrs. Joan Mason-Hurley, society president, said today.

She announced that money for these tickets will gladly be refunded if ticket-holders will phone GR 7-2534 after 6 p.m. inspiration in "And the glory of the Lord". All sections of the choir were responsive, singing many beautiful pianissimo passages with quite a sensitive tone, swelling beautifully on crescendoes without stridency.

More equality existed among the soloists than has sometimes been the case. It was an equality of performance moreover, that was on a high and consistent level.

Christa Ortlepp's lovely soprano, so pure of quality, clear and true, proved itself perfectly suited to the medium. In the aria shared with Tacoma contralto Margaret Myles, "He Shall Feed His Flock," the effect was profoundly moving.

Miss Myles, endowed with a rare and beautifully colored voice, has also an admirable technical control. Male solos were also most capably and satisfyingly sung by Victoria tenor Norman Tyrrell and baritone Derek McDermott.

BOY'S SOLO TRIUMPH

According to a tradition imposed by Handel himself, and so noted on the original score in his handwriting—but seldom carried out today—youth soprano Timothy Vernon sang the famous "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth."

So well did he sing it, and so beautiful was the effect that his audience was made more than ever aware of the perfection of boys' voices in sacred music.

Splendid support was given by a number of string players from the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, led by Clifford Evans, and by Richard Proudman at the organ.

Following the concert, Mr. and Mrs. Steed were presented with an engraved silver tray, and Mr. Steed with an illuminated address in poetic form and matched luggage.

Colonist Centenary Honored

To mark its centenary of continuous publication, The Daily Colonist Wednesday night held a birthday party at the Empress Hotel.

Publisher Seth R. Halton and Mrs. Halton were hosts to public officials and leading citizens from many walks of life.

Mayor Percy Scurrell expressed good wishes on behalf of Victoria citizens. Times editor Bruce Hutchison extended congratulations on behalf of the afternoon newspaper.

Highlight of the affair was the cutting of a birthday cake made up in the form of a pile of newspapers fresh off the press.

First issue of the "British Colonist" was December 11, 1858.

TRAPEZE QUEEN DIES

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Elisa Montovani, the fabulous "queen of the trapeze" of half a century ago, has died in poverty at a home for aged circus performers. The acrobat, born in Budapest, was 86 when she died Monday night.

SUN'S BATTING AVERAGE SLUMPS IN RAIN, FOG

Rain, fog and cloudy skies have taken their toll in the sunshine department for this month, weatherman William Mackie said today.

In the first 10 days of the month only 10.3 hours of bright sunshine were recorded, and there were six days with no sun at all, he said.

During the same period last year there were 27.4 hours of sunshine in six days, he said.

The wet weather of the past week will continue tonight and Friday, he said, with cloudy skies, light fog, and intermittent rain. Temperatures continue to rise gradually, with a minimum of 42 degrees expected for tonight, and a high of 48 degrees Friday.

... HERE AND THERE ... With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Who wants a rattlesnake handbag for Christmas?

In Victoria today, Mrs. Lois Haggen, personable CCF member from Grand Forks, told me how Grand Forks rattlesnakes are finding a ready market in the shape of ladies shoes, purses and handbags.

It seems a man named "Rattlesnake Bill" has made a very good thing out of selling local snake skins to manufacturers in Canada and the United States.

"It is a unique enterprise but still very much a one-man show," Mrs. Haggen said. "I hope to introduce a few specimens in the Legislature during the next session."

Snakes alive! But MLAs will oblige Mrs. Haggen by not referring to her hometown as Rattlesnake Forks.

SOS from James Nesbitt, president of Victoria Historical Society:

"Will you please stop knighting James Dunsmuir? He was not Sir James Dunsmuir and he was not twice premier of British Columbia.

"He was premier once, from 1900 to 1902—that's all."

Shopping With the Nobility: In Vancouver recently Lord Tweedsmuir, son of a former governor-general of Canada toured a big department store looking for Canadian toys to take home to his family.

A young saleswoman placed a selection before him.

"I say," he said, "that buffalo's a bit off, isn't? Have you ever seen a buffalo like that?"

"No Sir," she replied, "I've never seen a buffalo."

A solitary woman tourist from Oregon braved the drenching rain to visit our Legislative Buildings Wednesday afternoon.

"I just wanted to be able to say that I have been in your lovely Parliament," she said.

This profusely illustrated book on Australia and New Guinea is published by the Australian Publicity Council at Melbourne.

It must have cost the government considerably more than that famous booklet "Our Greatest Six Years" put out by the B.C. Social Credit League. The foreword by Prime Minister Robert Menzies is almost as glowing as that of Premier Bennett!

Fire damage was kept to a mattress and pile of sawdust fuel. Cause of the blaze was not determined. (Boucher Photo).

LITTLE CAPSULE ...

Cap Blast May Cost Boy an Eye

One of two teen-aged boys seriously hurt in a dynamite cap explosion Tuesday may lose his right eye, his mother said today.

"The doctor says there's not much chance they'll save his right eye, but I'm still hoping," said Mrs. Myrna Barker, 741 Goldstream.

Her boy, Allan Bosma, 13½, and Herbert McWilliam, 14, of 314 Goldstream, are in St. Joseph's Hospital ophthalmology ward where eye ailments receive specialized care.

The boys, both students of Belmont Junior-Senior High School, were playing with a nitroglycerine dynamite percussion cap in a field near Jacklin and Attree at 3.50 p.m.

Apparently the cap went off as both boys bent over it, possibly because one of them struck it. Two boxes of the lethal caps were there, but luckily did not explode.

A third boy, Kenneth Robertson, 14, of 2921 Phipps, had just turned his back and was walking away when the blast went off. He was not hurt.

A FEW DAYS

The other boys have nearly identical injuries to eyes, face, right hands and both legs, but the Bosma boy has the more serious eye injury.

Doctors said it would be a few days before it could be determined just how badly damaged the eyes are.

Colwood RCMP, who are investigating the incident, said they have not yet interviewed the boys in hospital.

It had been suggested earlier the caps may have come from a department of highways explosives storage shed on Jacklin, but it is now understood they were not the property of the department.

Reported in "fair" condition Wednesday, both boys were described by the hospital today as "satisfactory; they are coming along."

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court Wednesday:

Ronald Gordon Hunter, 915 Arcadia, $25 for driving without a licence.

George Campbell Fleming, Patricia Bay, $15 for driving without brakes.

Ragbir Singh Bhandar, 921 Green, $10 for driving without a rear licence plate light and $10 for driving without a muffler.

Robert Thomas Kellington, 3025 Balfour, $10 and $350 costs for driving without a rear licence plate light.

Public Help Needed To Catch Deer Killer

15 ENTRIES FOR YULE LIGHT CONTEST

Fifteen entries have already been received in the Junior Chamber of Commerce "Christmas Lighting Contest" and at least another 50 are expected before the Dec. 15 deadline, contest chairman Stewart Hagar said today.

Entry forms may be obtained from the chamber office, Wharf Street, or in the lobby of the B.C. Electric building where prizes totalling close to $400 are on display.

Participants in the popular annual event—there were 55 participants in 1957 and homes were viewed by many thousands of Victorians and visitors—may enter any one of four classes.

These are for the best decorated house; best depiction of a Christmas message; best decoration of a window or door, and novice class entries.

Three prizes will be presented by the chamber in each classification, as well as two special prizes given winners by the BCE.

... BIG TROUBLE

APPARENTLY INNOCENT but actually an instrument of sudden death if tampered with, the slim metal cylinder in top picture is a dynamite percussion cap. One like it went off in the faces of Allan Bosma, lower picture, and Herbert McWilliam, blasting and burning their clothes and causing serious eye, face, hand and leg injuries to both.

95-Year-Old 'Fair' After Traffic Mishap

A 95-year-old pedestrian is in "fair" condition at St. Joseph's Hospital today after being in collision with a car on Gorge near Harriet at 6.40 p.m. Wednesday.

Police identified the man as Ethelbert Hill, 29 Gorge East, who was crossing Gorge about 190 feet east of Harriet when he was in collision with an eastbound car driven by Donald M. Pedden, 2686 Selwyn.

The hospital said Hill was admitted with concussion.

Undetermined injuries were suffered by another pedestrian, Mrs. Cecelia McVickers, 64, of 1032 Craigdarroch, who fell in front of a car driven west on Fort at Fernwood by Audrey L. Downham, 3924 Blenkinsop, at 6.25 p.m. Wednesday.

The car did not strike Mrs. McVickers, police said.

Victoria Branch Civil Servants Elect Officers

Dave Lyttle of the B.C. Lands and Forests Department has been elected president of the Victoria Branch of the B.C. Government Employees Association; it was announced today.

Mr. Lyttle defeated Frank Carr, chief postal clerk, in a mail ballot conducted among the 2,200 members of the Victoria branch. Total ballots cast numbered 1,652.

Mr. Lyttle had been acting president during the current year.

Reward Money Reaches $350

Indignation, reward money, and theories are piling up in the case of the slaughtered deer at Beacon Hill Park.

But authorities appear no closer to tracing the killer.

Their only hope is that someone will come forward with information leading to his identity.

As of noon today, the informant stands to collect reward money totalling $350, offered by public bodies and private citizens.

The deer, a five-year-old buck who was a friendly favorite of hundreds of park visitors, was killed either last Friday or Saturday night.

Legs and entrails of the animal were found outside the deer enclosure, which is protected by a wire fence.

KNOW 'THE SCORE'

Today Alex Johnston, park foreman, expressed the opinion the killers had had previous experience.

"They kept the head in case they were stopped by a game warden," he suggested. "Possibly they had a deer tag to make it appear legal. The hunting season closed a week ago last Sunday, but you have 14 days in which to declare your trophy."

Mr. Johnston said he hoped the head and hide might be found, to at least determine how the deer was killed.

"About six years ago, there was a similar slaying," he said. "On that occasion, we found the head and hide floating in the inner harbor."

Three latest contributors to the reward money are Ted Hayward, former SPCA inspector, $50; Ray Huckin, 1464 Begbie, $25; Miss Kathleen Riley, 5327 Parker, $25.

Others offering reward money are Capt. Burges Gadsden, $25; Victoria Branch, SPCA, $100; Women's Auxiliary, SPCA, $75; City of Victoria, $50.

Mr. Huckin, who is a draughtsman for the provincial parks department, said he was making his offer in the

HE BUILT A NEWSPAPER

City Man Leads Ethiopia Crusade

By TONY DICKASON

Percy Richards is a newspaperman who has been battling for freedom and good government all 35 years of his working life—and for the last three years in Ethiopia.

The 54-year-old former Victorian is editor of The Voice of Ethiopia, published in Addis Ababa, and which he founded in 1955. It was at first a hand-set weekly. Today, as a daily newspaper, it runs off modern presses in the two official languages of the country, Amharic and English.

Mr. Richards is visiting here for three weeks on the first holiday of his African tenure.

PREMIERS' AIDE

A former staffer on both the Times and Colonist, he was also executive assistant to ex-premiers John Hart and Byron Johnson until the latter was defeated at the polls in 1952.

His newspaper, published by the National Ethiopian Patriotic Association, is a sort of unofficial spearhead to Emperor Haile Selassie's "great crusade" for educational advancement for his 20,000,000 subjects.

"In this program, establishment of a free press forms an integral part. A great deal of what is happening in Ethiopia today stems from the new constitution proclaimed three years ago, calling, among other things, for free education, free speech and a free press."

"GREAT VISION"

At the beginning, Mr. Richards—"Percy" to his numerous friends here—had to "go it alone." Gradually he built up a staff of native co-workers and today, apart from writing the editorials and airmailing them "home" to Addis Ababa, he can rely on the paper staff to handle the routine chores.

"Voice of Ethiopia" became a daily two years ago, on the personal invitation of the emperor, whom Mr. Richards describes as "a man of fighting spirit with great vision. He is an astute man who personally directs education."

The country is still underdeveloped, but changes can be easily seen. In the capital of 500,000 persons, there were few cars when the editor arrived, but now traffic presents a "terrific" problem.

HINGES ON EDUCATION

One of the main drawbacks to fast progress is the fact that a nuclear economy cannot be quickly imposed on a largely feudal country. Progress all hinges on education, he said, needed to raise standards of living.

The Ethiopians are keenly aware of the necessity for this. Even merchants in the innumerable small kiosks "always fry out their English on us," he said. In the capital are about 1,200 Americans, 1,000 British and 350 Canadians.

Mr. Richards will present an illustrated talk Tuesday next at 8 p.m. in the Douglas Building cafeteria, sponsored by the Victoria branch, United Nations Society. The public is invited.

Mantha Trial 'Open' After Judge's Ruling

Trial of murder suspect Leo Anthony Mantha was transferred to open court this morning after being closed to the jury and press (for reporting purposes) since Monday afternoon.

Stumbling-block to the progress of the open trial was a "trial within a trial" during which Mr. Justice J. G. Rutan heard statements said to have been made by the accused and which today the judge ruled on as to their admissibility.

He ruled that statements made by Mantha to city detectives in an apartment at 451 Superior Street, were admissible, but that a further statement alleged to have been made and signed by the accused at city detective office was inadmissible.

Following the ruling the jury was readmitted and open trial resumed immediately late this morning.

Mantha, a 31-year-old James Bay tugboatman, is charged with the Sept. 6 murder of HMCS Naden sailor Able Seaman Aaron Hetherington Jenkins, 23.

Jenkins died from stab wounds shortly after being attacked with a knife in cabin 150 on B deck of the Nelles Block at Naden.

He is represented by George Gregory, assisted by A. B. Russ. Lloyd McKenzie is crown prosecutor, assisted by Frank Donegani.

First witness after open court resumed was PO 2nd Class Stanley Piontek, HMCS Stetler, who said he had worked in the same pay office as Jenkins.

He testified that on the evening of Sept. 5 he saw Jenkins at the Empress Hotel, where Jenkins' cousin, Donald Perry, worked as a barman.

"He (Jenkins) had a cut on the bridge of his nose, and both cheeks were swollen, purple and discolored," said the witness. "I took him to the men's room and washed some of the blood off his face."

"Later we went to Perry's apartment at 451 Superior St."

Action Taken For Possible Sentence Appeal

An application by the B.C. attorney-general's department for leave to appeal the terms of the sentences passed on Robert Sommers and H. Wilson Gray on conspiracy convictions is "a formality," a spokesman for the department said today.

He said the appeal concerns a point of law on whether one year or five year sentences should have been applied on the conspiracy convictions.

Both Sommers and Gray had previously appealed their convictions.

"The Crown previously raised this point of law, the spokesman said. 'This request for leave to appeal is therefore a formality which preserves the possibility of discussion in the Court of Appeal on this point.'"

Warning Issued. Park 'Litterbugs'

Large-scale litter-bugging at Thetis Lake Park will result in prosecution for the guilty parties, Colwood RCMP warned today.

Return address for Christmas cards?

Is it proper to write one's address on Christmas card envelopes?

Louise Davis answers:

Yes, and it should be encouraged for the benefit of all concerned. Many a greeting card never reaches its destination because of error, insufficient address, or because of undecipherable handwriting. The sender's address, either written, printed or embossed, is a boon to post offices. It is often a help to the recipient who might have to do some intensive research to find the new address of the Smiths, who moved recently to another street or another state.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If You're To Be 'Santa's Helper,' Be Well Groomed

Many housewives land jobswork because you probably help with the Christmas rush. These temporary jobs are fun because they are a change of pace, and of course they also provide some extra Christmas money. It is stimulating for a woman who spends much of her time at home to meet the public.

It is just as well to give a thought, however, to the extra demands upon the homemaker who must suddenly turn herself out neat and trim on time. Good grooming is absolutely essential in order that she be a credit to the store and have self-confidence in herself.

Whatever beauty and grooming routines she has been following should be stepped up, but most of all, they must be planned. There will be even less time for them than usual and the routine will be less flexible. A shampoo cannot be postponed from one evening to the next morning. Nails must get even more attention than usual. Carelessness in such matters will be inexcusable.

You may find this job much more tiring than your housework will be on your feet for longer hours, without rest, than usual. Then, too, standing is much more tiring than walking about. Attractive but comfortable shoes are of the greatest importance.

If you have been addicted to showers, you should switch for the time being because there is nothing more restful than a warm, soapy soak in a tub. If you find that you do not have time for a long, leisurely bath before dinner, a 10-minute foot soaking will do wonders for your tired underpinnings. You can use the tub or a basin. Have the water warm and soapy. This soothes and softens the feet.

If you have an extra Christmas job, you will have to be efficient in the care of your clothing. Clothes should be brushed and hung up the minute you take them off. Blouses and lingerie should be put in the washing machine or to soak in suds immediately. If you must invest in some new garments you will find the drip dries a great help.

Piano Pupils Heard In A Christmas Recital

Ardnaheim lounge, Holyrood House, setting for a musicale recently by piano pupils of Miss Noel A. M. Smith, ATCM, was filled with interested relatives and friends.

Specially invited guests included Miss Smith's two sisters, Catherine Anthony Clark and Miss Joyce M. A. Smith, Miss Margaret Clark, Miss Ethel James, Miss Kathleen Elvidge and Miss Margaret Henley.

The program included early keyboard music including Old English and progressed through the various periods to 20th century English and the modern school of other countries, including works by Kabalevsky, Bloch, Tcherépine, Villa Lobes and Bartok. Two violin solos were played by Miss Mary Goward with her sister, Florence, at the piano.

Miss J. Ethel M. Bruce, former newspaper music critic, spoke to the students at conclusion of the recital and presented certificates (Royal Conservatory of Music) to successful examination candidates. Special "studio pin" was awarded by Miss Smith to Miss Sandra Parton. Other awards were presented to Gillian Gerry, Cheryl Borris and Stuart Calder.

Miss Dana Thompson on behalf of the pupils presented Miss Smith with a gift and corsage of red roses.

Corsages were also presented to Miss Bruce and Mrs. W. R. Thompson. The latter, assisted by Mrs. Owen Goward, convened the tea which closed the proceedings. Gifts were presented by little Roslyn Farmer and Alan Denike.

Floral decorations used in the lounge were the gifts of Miss Margaret Clark, niece of Miss Smith, and Karen Dickson who also displayed a delightful Christmas scene.

DEAR ABBY . . .

All Right . . . IF!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have two teen-aged youngsters who study with radio, TV and sometimes the record-player going full blast. They say all the kids do it and they can study better with it on. Do you think I should put a stop to it?

AVERAGE MOTHER
DEAR AVERAGE: If the children bring home all "A's" . . . by all means let them study any way they choose. BUT, if their grades could be improved—help them by removing all distractions.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend has a terrible habit of swearing every time he gets mad. Whenever I correct him he says he will stop swearing when I stop smoking. He doesn't smoke. Have you any suggestions?

SUSY
DEAR SUSY: Make a deal with him. Tell him you won't smoke in his presence if he won't swear in yours.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow with an eight-year-old son. I met a very attractive man where I work (I am a waitress) about a year ago and we started going out together. He wants to marry me. The only thing I have against him is that he was married twice and divorced twice. Two of his children by his second marriage go to the same school my son goes to and these children bear his name. I have explained this relationship to my own son. He says, "Mommy, if Billy and Bobby's Mamma couldn't stay married to him, why don't you call her up and ask her why?" Do you think I dare? I have never met her.

TEMPTED
DEAR TEMPTED: "From the mouths of babes . . ." What have you got to lose?

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who comes from a well-to-do prominent (please don't use my name) family. I make friends easily and enjoy mixing with people and going places. I am in love with a fellow who is exactly the opposite in every way. He comes from a very poor, uneducated people and their reputation is quite bad. He doesn't want to meet or be with people. I know he loves me, Abby, because I understand him. We can't stay away from each other. They say "opposites attract." What are our chances for a happy marriage?

JANE DOE
DEAR JANE: Opposites attract—trouble! The more you have in common, the better your chances are for a happy marriage.

Remain Alert; Obey Rules During Holiday Driving

DOLLARTON, B.C.—A woman, Mrs. Eaton, admitted in urging Canadian housewives not to argue with statistics. "However, in view of the odds, they should insist upon driving when safety is at stake," she added.

And, if a woman is to do much driving during the holiday period, Mrs. Eaton, who is also executive committee member of the Canadian Highway Safety Conference, suggests the following road safety tips:

1. As far as possible, try to do your shopping in off-peak hours. The streets are less crowded and it's easier to find what you want in the stores.

2. If you have to shop late in the evening, why not call in at a handy refreshment counter and enjoy a cup of hot coffee or other alertness beverage. It will keep you alert for the trip home. It makes your shopping expedition more pleasant too.

3. If you are carrying bulky parcels, be sure to wait for the green light and watch carefully before you cross at an intersection. The parcels might hamper your movements if you have to avoid trouble in an emergency. Especially when shopping, take no chances with traffic.

4. If it's a case of last-minute shopping, don't rush. Safety, not time, matters at this time of year.

Finally, as hostesses, Canadian housewives could help their driving guests to stay alert by serving strong coffee around the end of the evening, Mrs. Eaton concluded.

clation, said his personal view is that "patients and parents have a perfect right to accept or reject treatment offered," although the CMA has never officially examined the question and has no policy.

A case where a child was placed in custody of the Children's Aid Society occurred in Vancouver in 1956. Five-week-old Janice Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, was described by doctors as in need of a blood transfusion to correct a serious RH factor.

While the parents were not members of the Jehovah's Witnesses, they had twice refused permission for a transfusion, saying the Bible forbids taking blood into the body by any means. The child was given a transfusion.

Abraham Example

Donald Holland's father quoted from the Bible to explain the position he and his wife took, using Acts 15:29. He said Abraham was willing to sacrifice his son, Isaac, in obedience to God. He and his wife believe "that by being faithful to God's command we have not taken the chance of losing Donald forever."

On the question of whether the Children's Aid Society has the authority to take a child away from his parents without their consent in order to give him a blood transfusion, an official of the society in Victoria (who refused to be quoted directly) admitted, "This is a nasty problem, all right. The superintendent of child welfare is quite concerned about it."

She said children came into the society's care, "only at the request of the parents unless apprehended for neglect or under a court order. It would be illegal for us to seize a child—something like Hitler's system."

The official stressed the society could not initiate any action itself in any blood transfusion case similar to the Holland one, and that the problem would have to be referred first to the superintendent of child welfare, then to the attorney-general.

Chance of Life

"But no one has the right to deprive a child of life, or the chance of life," the society spokesman added.

So here, then, is the position: Jehovah's Witnesses refusing blood transfusions on the one hand, the law seemingly powerless on the other. Is there a solution?

Mr. Roberts believes there is. "Why not a substitute for blood?" he asks. "The authorities in Korea refused blood plasma at one stage during the war because it led to a liver disease and soldiers were dying like flies. They used Dextran instead."

Dextran, according to the dictionary, is "a gummy carbohydrate found in the unripe sugar beet, and formed in sugar solutions, wine, etc., by bacterial action."

Is Dextran a good substitute for blood in a transfusion?

"Sometimes," said Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical administrator at Royal Jubilee Hospital, "Dextran can be used in cases arising from severe shock, but in many cases requiring a blood transfusion it (Dextran) would be of little value."

"You see Dextran—along with other substances that we call plasma expanders—contains none of the organic materials found in blood, and no haemoglobin. In most cases only whole blood can be used effectively."

Dr. Anderson said he did not

Biggest Man-Made Lake in World When Zambesi River Flow Halted

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—The black man's legend held that the mighty Zambesi River could never be tamed. But the white men proved it wrong early this month when they plugged a hole in the Kariba Dam to stop the flow of the 1,600-mile Zambesi for the first time.

Now they await the floods to come pouring up against the dam later this summer, after the heavy rains, and start creating the biggest man-made lake in the world.

Piling up against a dam wall 420 feet high, 1,900 feet long, and 80 feet thick, the water will form Lake Elizabeth—named for Queen Elizabeth II, who will officially open the Kariba hydro-electric project in 1960.

LAKE DIMENSIONS

The lake will cover 2,000 square miles, will be 175 miles long, will have a coastline of 3,000 miles, and will be 335 feet deep.

It will take from three to six years to fill up completely and experts say the weight of the water probably will cause the ground to sag under it, setting off some earth tremors.

All this water eventually will be used to operate huge turbo-generators with a total capacity of 1,200,000 kilowatts, something like 1,000,000 horsepower—enough power to supply 88 per cent of the needs of the Rhodesian Nyasaland Federation.

The sealing of the Kariba Dam was a simple operation—steel grills backed by tons of rubble were dropped over two apertures—but the engineers who built the dam had their headaches and moments of doubt in the two years since their work began.

FLOOD DISASTER

Last February, it looked as if the black man's legend was right. The annual Zambesi floods, greatest in history, poured into and over the dam workings. Bridges, equipment and men were swept away and work was stopped for weeks.

However, the dam wall—only part completed—had stood up to the ravages and needed few repairs. The main worry was the floods had deprived the engineers of valuable time and they knew they had to get the dam wall to a certain height before this summer's floods came.

With the plugging last week the wall was high and strong enough to hold back the coming floods—even if they are as severe as last summer's.

The Kariba project is the dream of Lord Malvern—prime minister of Southern Rhodesia for 24 years, and architect and first prime minister of the Rhodesian federation.

A modern hotel has been built high up on the gorge parapet looking down on the dam. The shores of the lake will become one of the outstanding game reserves in the African continent, with wild life of every type.

About 50,000 Tonga tribesmen are being resettled elsewhere. They didn't take kindly to the idea at first and some were killed by the police during resettlement riots but now they are pretty well reconciled to being uprooted.

They have seen the Zambesi conquered—the first wild African river to be controlled.

Newspaper advertising ranks third in male readership preference, just ahead of sports news, according to a recent readership survey.

FRENCH DESIGNER

But if Lord Malvern was the dreamer it was a Frenchman who helped bring it to realization. The man who designed the dam is 67-year-old French engineer Andre Coyne. He was asked to examine the whole project and see if it was feasible.

Kariba had its toll of life. More than a score of men—black and white—lost their lives through drowning, falls and other accidents. And some died from the heat, for the temperature in the walled-in Kariba Gorge reaches up to 115.

It is an isolated spot, lying about 200 miles northwest of Salisbury—in a region with few settlements and roads. Men and lighter equipment are usually flown there.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, Dec. 11th—Finding the right Christmas gift . . . can often be an exhausting experience. For my teen-age nephews and nieces, I've solved the problem by giving gay, holly-decorated BANK OF MONTREAL Christmas Gift Cheques or Money Orders in their brightly coloured folders and envelopes. For the smaller fry, the present with a future is a B of M Savings Account Passbook, in a Yuletide cover with a nice deposit inside. I like this gift best of all, because it helps start youngsters on the road to thrift and self-reliance at "My Bank." Why not visit your B of M today . . . see if you don't shorten your gift-list.

A TREAT FOR YOUR FELINE BEAUTY! She'll cherish, honour and even obey you when you give her the food all cats and kittens love . . . DR. BALLARD'S CHAMPION WHOLE FISH CAT FOOD. This is the new balanced formula that will make a real beauty of her. It contains the high-quality proteins found only in whole fish . . . and has Vitamin B1 added. And because all cats love fish, she'll be sure to eat all she needs for a sleek coat and playful high spirits. Pamper your cat or kitten with the new Dr. Ballard's Cat Food . . . it's better than ever!

DOING A LOT OF COOKING for cold-weather appetites? I know just the cooking help to make everything taste extra-good. You'll find BLUE BONNET MARGARINE makes all the difference in your baking—adds extra good-taste to muffins, pastries, pies and cakes. And of course it's delicious as a spread for bread and a topping on vegetables and meats. That's because it is now, and always has been, an all-vegetable margarine with essential vitamins and minerals added. Try it today!—you'll agree that Blue Bonnet is a busy cook's best friend!

I'VE ALWAYS NOTICED that foods that look good seem to taste better. You couldn't find a better example of this fact than MINUTE RICE. It's a delight to serve . . . a treat to the eye and wonderful eating . . . each separate kernel is so plump, fluffy and tender! Minute Rice is a great time saver, too . . . it's ready-cooked. From package to plate in five minutes! Serve Minute Rice as a vegetable; it goes with any meat you can name . . . chicken . . . chops . . . steak . . . fish . . . hamburger. Add this convenient Minute Rice to your soups, too, for extra flavor and nourishment. No other rice so easy, so good! Treat your family to delicious Minute Rice . . . today!

YOU ASKED FOR IT AGAIN . . . the exciting Magic Fruit Cake made with BORDEN'S EAGLE BRAND Sweetened Condensed Milk. Takes 15 minutes to make; keeps fresh for weeks; easy to mail—and a joy to taste! It's really Magic as you'll see . . . Magic Fruit Cake—1-1/2 cups minute meat—1-1/2 cups (15 oz. can) Borden's Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk—1 egg, beaten—1/4 cup flour—1/4 tsp. baking soda—2 cups mixed peel—1 cup walnuts, coarsely chopped—1/2 cup cherries.

To mince meat, add Eagle Brand Milk and eggs; blend well. Sift flour and baking soda, then add mixed peel, nuts and cherries. Toss lightly to coat fruit, nuts with flour. Add flour and fruit to first mixture and stir until just blended. Pour mixture into 9 x 4 x 3 inch loaf pan which has been greased, lined with heavy brown paper and greased again. Bake in moderate oven 350 deg. for 2 hours.

WINTER PUPPIES NEED THE BEST OF FOOD to make up for the fresh-air frisking they miss. When our dog was a pup, too tiny to go out in cold weather, he thrived on DR. BALLARD'S CHAMPION DOG FOOD . . . the veterinary diet that contains all the nutrients a dog needs. Comes in three flavours—Chicken, Liver or Regular—all of them favourites with pups and dogs of all breeds. Dr. Ballard's has constant uniformity and quality in every tin—with balanced nourishment that encourages a shiny coat, bright eyes and bounding good health. Give your pup or dog the benefit of Dr. Ballard's Dog Food, too, won't you?

LIFEBOAT BUMPS OBJECT

Sunken Troller Believed Found

TOFINO (CP)—A boat searching for a 35-foot troller with a possible five persons aboard reported late Wednesday it had dragged against a sunken object believed to be the missing boat.

The transport department's Tofino lifeboat said it hit the object at Brabant Channel, between Catface and Vargas Islands along the 23-mile route to Ahousat.

The missing troller left last weekend for Ahousat with at least three persons aboard—MacPherson George, 55, his son Wilfred, 31, and David Jacobson, all of Ahousat. There were reports possibly two others were also aboard.

Coxswain A. R. Hagelin of the lifeboat said he believes the search now must be finished by salvage operations, probably to be carried out by Indians from the Ahousat reserve.

North Cowichan To Bar Hunters From Park Areas

DUNCAN—Despite demands from district rod and gun clubs and fish and game associations, North Cowichan will enact a by-law which will bar hunters from the municipal park surrounding Maple Mountain between Maple Bay and Crofton.

Révee C. A. P. Murison told council it is "a public park, and the council cannot discriminate between any of the users."

He reported that after consulting a lawyer he had found the park could not be regulated as Chemainus and Duncan game clubs wished. The by-law banning the discharging of firearms in the 1,000-acre centennial park will come before council in January.

$900 Realized By Food Festival

DUNCAN—The second annual food festival staged by the Senior WA to King's Daughters' Hospital cleared more than $900, it was announced Wednesday as final returns, including donations, were tabulated.

The WA was assisted by five other Duncan women's organizations. Mrs. R. T. M. Dobell, president of the hospital WA, Mrs. A. I. MacDonal, and Mrs. George Hamilton were co-conveners of the festival, which was opened by Mrs. N. T. Bennett, president of the Nanaimo Hospital Women's Auxiliary.

Shift System Threat If Sooke Vote Fails

LANGFORD—Students at Belmont Junior-Senior High School will be forced into a shift system eventually unless the present Sooke school district $209,000 school building bylaw passes, Trustee Mrs. Isabelle Reader told Colwood PTA Tuesday.

Road 'Discrimination' Charged by Alderman

DUNCAN—Ald. Steve Saunders charged in city council that Duncan was the victim of discrimination by the highways department.

1958 Record Year For Qualicum Beach

QUALICUM BEACH—Total taxable assessments in Qualicum Beach during 1958 were $1,911,791, and are expected to pass the $2 million mark within three years, village commission chairman J. Craig Reid reported to the annual ratepayers' meeting.

More work has been planned and completed than in any year since the village was incorporated, he said.

Revenue was $103,000, which is up $6,000 on last year's total. Expenditure on public works was $52,393, of which $15,867 was for hard-surfacing of roads. To date 96 per cent of current taxes have been received.

The volunteer fire department is up to full strength with a waiting list, reported fire chief Orville Sharman. Ten calls were answered during the year, with total damage to property of about $500. Recreational facilities in the new addition to the firehall add greatly to the morale of the department. Training is proceeding under instructors from the provincial fire marshal's office.

ISLAND DIGEST

Victoria Daily Times 35 THURSDAY, DEC. 11, 1958

ASSAULT DENIED

'I Never Laid Hands On Him'

Albert N. Davidson, electrician at Western Forest Industries Ltd. sawmill at Honeymoon Bay who was discharged for alleged insolence, insubordination, and assault, today denied that any assault took place.

"It was said that I assaulted my foreman at the mill," he said. "That isn't so. I never laid hands on him, and I never made a threatening gesture."

Mr. Davidson stated that the foreman in question, at an arbitration hearing in Duncan on Davidson's job, said: "I think and believe Mr. Davidson pushed me."

"That is no so," Mr. Davidson said.

Mr. Davidson was discharged Sept. 6, while he was having lunch on the sawmill night shift. The chief electrician told him he had taken too long at his meal, he said.

"The foreman said he was going to see the superintendent, and I said 'go ahead.' Later he came back, saying the superintendent had sent orders that I was to go home," Mr. Davidson said.

"In the meantime I got into an argument with him, and was most emphatic in telling him what I thought of him and of his reprimanding me during my lunch period. The 'assault' was supposed to have been in the time office, and it just couldn't have happened."

His discharge was appealed, and the case was heard by an arbitration board in Duncan, which recommended he be given his job back without loss of seniority.

He has not been rehired to date.

Russia Ready To Talk

German Peace Treaty Offer

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia said tonight it is ready to hold four-power talks on a German peace treaty.

The statement, issued by the Soviet news agency Tass, said Russia will not agree to talks designed to bring about German reunification "without the Germans and behind their backs."

It added: "But the Soviet Union would not refuse to discuss the conclusion of a peace treaty which, in its view, falls within the competence of the four powers."

The statement went on to reject Western suggestions of free elections for the whole of Germany as "pure demagoguery."

Slopped-Over Tea Just Not Cricket

LONDON (CP)—The longest storm in a teacup in legal history blew itself out Wednesday leaving the landlord of an apartment block in London's fashionable West End as the chief victim.

It began 18 months ago when Sir Joseph Perez, chief justice of Trinidad and Tobago, moved into a £3-a-day service suite for what was to have been a three-month stay. Two weeks later, he moved out, saying the service was the worst he had encountered in 40 years. The landlord sued him for 2½ months' rent.

When the case finally came to trial last June, Sir Joseph testified that he had to carry his own bags upstairs on arrival, that his morning tea arrived half an hour late with as much liquid in the saucer as in the cup, that he had to

SNOW... SNOW... SNOW AND MORE TO COME

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—Hope gave way to renewed gloom today in this blizzard-stricken city as residents awoke to new snow and a forecast of more.

Another four inches had fallen overnight, raising to about 6½ feet the pile that has broken roofs, buildings and business in the last five days. Two local building contractors estimated damage has reached $500,000 and probably would go higher.

Drifts are more than 20 feet high.

Reds Warn West Against Force

By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union declared in an official statement tonight that any Western attempt to "break through" to West Berlin by force will be considered an act of war by all the Warsaw Pact nations.

ONE KILLED

30 Injured In British Train Wreck

URMSTON, England (Reuters) — At least one person was killed and 30 were injured tonight when a passenger train crashed into a crane, derailling five cars.

An unconfirmed report said another passenger train then crashed into the wreckage of the Liverpool-Manchester train and the engines of both trains were derailed.

A spokesman at the hospital in this Northern England town said about 30 casualties had been admitted and "they are still coming in."

An authorized declaration by the official Tass news agency stated bluntly that Soviet troops are not in East Germany to show the West the road to Berlin.

The Tass declaration apparently was issued in response to authoritative Western reports last Saturday that the United States was on the verge of sending tanks to free a U.S. Army truck convoy held up by East German authorities last month.

The statement also attacked the West for delaying on Russia's proposals for "normalizing" Berlin.

It cautioned that "nothing remains" for Russia to do but to end the occupation unilaterally if the West will not negotiate in a "businesslike manner."

BERLIN (UPI)—Russia today rejected American demands the Soviets release a U.S. Army pilot held by East Germany since he parachuted into the Soviet zone on Dec. 3. A spokesman for the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin said the matter was outside Soviet jurisdiction — which meant Russia would insist the United States negotiate with Communist East Germany if it wants the flier returned.

MILK FOR HUNGRY CHILDREN

Our Youngsters Pitch In

It has been truly heart-warming to note in contributions to the "Milk for Hungry Children Fund" the number of offerings from children here.

They have arrived in dribs and drabs, some sizeable donations obviously saved by the children themselves at perhaps some sacrifice, especially at this money-tight season of the year.

A gift, no matter how small, will help a starving child. "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me," He said.

The campaign on behalf of the Unitarian Service Committee, helped by the Victoria Times, is now in its ninth day and will continue to Christmas. Object is to raise money to ship dried milk from Canada to the hungry hordes of pitiful children in Korea, India and Hong Kong. Needed from Canada for this purpose is $200,000 and from Victoria—

'Briggs Knew He'd Be Found Out'—Martin

VANCOUVER (CP)—Health Minister Eric Martin said Wednesday night that H. Lee Briggs, former general manager of the British Columbia Power Commission, "made his accusations because the Social Credit government would have found out the mess he was in."

His accusation, probably the strongest against Mr. Briggs since he was dismissed from his post after attacking government finance policies, came at a rowdy all-party meeting at a church club.

Mr. Martin said Mr. Briggs resigned from the power commission "because he was in a mess and he wanted to pull the whole house of cards down with him."

"This government has watched the power commission closely and Briggs knew he would be found out."

The government has ordered a royal commission to investigate charges made by Briggs against its financing policies and the costs of certain power commission projects.

'I Didn't Come To Be Insulted

Mr. Ainsworth said the Social Credit administration "is falling apart at the seams because of the failure of the senior officers of the government."

Mr. Martin demanded an immediate retraction of this statement: "I didn't come here to be insulted."

Mr. Ainsworth said he was "not dealing in personalities."

"But I am ashamed as a native British Columbian of this spreading disease within our government which is dragging down our civil servants."

Mr. Laing said the government is spending from $40,000 to $60,000 "in what will likely be a vain effort to win a seat in the Rossland-Trail riding."

Big liquor interests are travelling with some of the Social Credit cabinet ministers there, he said.

When Mr. Martin challenged this remark, Mr. Laing said "It has been reported in Vancouver newspapers that a certain Kelowna wine-producer has been accompanying the highways minister."

"After what has happened I would expect a little humility from this government," said

On the platform with Mr. Martin were Liberal leader Arthur Laing; Allan Ainsworth, president of the B.C. Conservative Association, and Mrs. Laura Jamieson, former CCF member of the legislature.

Hecklers in the audience became so enthusiastic at times that violence appeared imminent. At one point during Mr. Martin's speech, a heckler jumped up and yelled: "Don't try to bully people. And don't shake your finger at me."

"I've out-shouted louder men than you," the health minister retorted. "If this is a contest I'll out-shout you."

Durelle-Moore Fight Too Much for TV Fan

COURTENAY, B.C. (CP) — Francis Alexander Campbell, a 59-year-old war pensioner, died Wednesday night, apparently of a heart attack, a few minutes after watching the televised Archie Moore-Yvon Durelle light heavyweight championship fight.

Mr. Campbell, from Point Holmes, near Comox, was pronounced dead in the home of a nephew where he was visiting.

Biggest Carrot To Come

TRAIL — The by-election scene here is humming with reports of a last-minute strategy expected from the Social Credit government forces—something big enough to make voters forget the Sommers case and the Briggs charges.

"The biggest carrot," as Liberal candidate, Dr. M. E. Krause, put it, "is still to be placed before the donkey."

The backroom boys are speculating on a big announcement which probably will be made by Premier Bennett Saturday. They're guessing he will revive the question of a steel industry in the Kootenays—which would be heartily endorsed by the growing numbers of unemployed and the business community.

Local advertisements say Premier Bennett will speak on the question of a steel industry Saturday night. Local guesses are it could be increased government aid, a new market, or establishment of an industry by some other firm than the local Cominco Mine.

Terror Reign Continues In Hungary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Henry Cabot Lodge declared today that a reign of terror, carried out by Soviet agents, is continuing in full force in Hungary despite UN efforts.

He called on the 81-nation General Assembly to condemn the Soviet Union once more and to persist in trying to end the repressive measures.

Lodge addressed the assembly as it opened a new round of debate on the Hungarian problem which it took up first in an emergency session during the 1956 Hungarian uprising.

Lodge submitted a 37-nation resolution calling on the Soviet Union and the Red Hungarian government to end repression in the battered satellite.

The assembly was expected to give the proposal overwhelming approval.

Lowest Turnout Since '42 Looms

A trickle of votes dropped into ballot boxes throughout Greater Victoria this morning as rain fell from overcast skies.

Early civic election turnouts ran on the light side in all municipalities except Oak Bay where the first reeveship contest in a decade was drawing a heavier vote than last year's 29 per cent.

By noon 611 Oak Bay voters had cast ballots, 50 per cent more than at the same time last year indicating the complete vote would top the 41 per cent turnout in 1956.

Victoria voters had cast 1,464 ballots by noon in the public market building indicating the possibility of the lightest vote since 1942's 25 per cent.

Last year 23 more persons had turned out by noon and the total vote wound up as a low 28 per cent.

ESQUIMALT PLUNGES

The turnout was expected to plunge sharply in Esquimalt from 1957's 47 per cent prompted by a reeveship contest. Polling was very slow this morning with only 150 votes cast by noon.

Saanich's 13 polling stations reported balloting was slow with indications that last year's 33 per cent turnout would not be reached.

However, returning officers in all the municipalities said they expected voting to pick up to a brisk pace in late afternoon despite the poor start which was blamed on the weather.

Polling stations in all municipalities remain open until 8 p.m.

ISSUES AT STAKE

A total of 53,399 Greater Victorians are eligible to vote.

In Victoria, 20,273 persons can select four new aldermen and ratepayers can vote on the $1,000,000 parking bylaw and the amalgamation referendum.

In Saanich, 21,865 persons can choose three new councillors. Ratepayers must decide whether or not they want amalgamation and Cadboro Bay-Gordon Head ratepayers can vote on two sewer bylaws totalling $1,700,000.

Oak Bay's 7,647 eligible voters can elect a reeve and five councillors while Esquimalt's 3,614 eligible voters can choose three new councillors.

FIRST BALLOT

Biggest surprise was the apparent failure of the important amalgamation referendums and money bylaws to draw a strong early response from Victoria and Saanich voters.

But rain didn't dampen the usual contest for being the first to vote in the city election. Four voters were waiting at the market building doors when they opened at 8 a.m. R. W. Bittner, 944 Fairfield, won the honor of casting the first ballot.

KISS FOR THE CHAMP

To the victor go the spoils, and for ageless Archie Moore they included a buss from his wife after rugged scrap in Montreal in which he got off the canvas to whip challenger Yvon

Recollection

"WHEN I was a child in the 1950s," said the Katherine of . . . 1996, "my father used to read aloud to us on Christmas night. You see, when he was a child, his father used to read aloud to us on Christmas evening, and, as Dad grew older, he wanted to do the same for us. Sort of family tradition."

Ruth

"I remember it so clearly, as one does remember the happenings of one's childhood. I can still see the lovely spacious room with the Christmas tree in the corner, and the prettiest cards ranged along the mantelpiece."

"I can't remember all the books he read from in the different years, but I remember the queer one about the old Czech peasant who wandered round for half a lifetime in New Siberia and the northern parts of the Arctic Ocean. Dad chose it that Christmas because a family of boys was with us, and he knew it would appeal to them."

"Some of it was rather old for me, but I remember a bit about the coming of the cold when the writer was on an island off the coast of New Siberia. He spent a whole winter there in a cave near the shore, and, in vivid words, he described how the sea froze over."

"At first, he said, the sea tossed to and fro with a gentle swishing sound. Then came the dreadful frigid frosts. The sea grew quieter and quieter. The waves grew smaller and calmer until, after a few days, the water was quite smooth."

"There was no trace of ice yet. But, one early evening, tiny stars of light were leaping like little points of fire about a foot above the water."

"After several days of this great frost, there was a rumbling and a crackling that spread for miles and miles. An icy pulp began to form. Gradually it grew thicker and clotted into chunks of ice. The chunks moved closer and closer, and then, almost in a second, the ice was clear across the sea as far as the eye could reach."

"It was the noise when the sea first froze over," said Katherine. "The tides, which rise as much as 30 or 40 feet, burst the ice for the first few days. In the bays where the ice stretched from shore to shore, it couldn't hold up when the water went down, and the whole bay broke in two."

"I remember a bit about how the ice suddenly gave way before the thrust of the tide, and, near the shore, pieces of it were thrown upon the rocks. It was like thunder claps or a long spell of gunfire."

"His queer life in the cave," said Katherine, "losing count of time, waiting for the Polar night to end, the strangest of it, the huge, dark, icy surface of the ocean when, in March, he ventured out of his cave, and watched for what he called the Arctic Bird to appear."

The bird was white, he said, and always flew alone and very high. The sun would shine on it, you see, though all below was still in shadow."

"I'll never forget the description," said Katherine. "The shining bird appearing from below the dark horizon."

"The book is 'Thirty Years in the Golden North.' It's by Jan Weld, translated by Paul Selver. The Foreword is by Karel Capek. Weizel, who dictated the material of the book to two journalists on a Prague newspaper, was received in audience by President Masaryk, and lectured in Czechoslovakia in the 1920s."

Water, Water!

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

One of the medical fads staunchly believed in by perhaps a million people is that of drinking unneeded water. Many persons are sure that in order to be healthy, one should each day drink eight glasses of water.

For many years I tried hard to find out where the idea had originated, but I never could run down the source. I do not know of any eminent physician who advocates the practice, and I could never see the logic of it.

I know that most people have an idea that the extra water "flushes" the kidneys, but that is an ancient concept. Today, we know that if a person drinks eight glasses of unneeded water, his heart has to work hard to pump it around, and his kidneys have to work hard to get rid of it. And in the body there are many ways in which this unwanted water can be a troublemaker and a nuisance.

My dear old professor of physiology at Harvard, the eminent Dr. Walter B. Cannon, who wrote the world's great book on homeostasis, or those many regulating forces that keep our body chemistry on an even keel, had no use for the fad of drinking extra water. He used to say to me that the Good Lord has given us a thirst to tell us exactly how much water we require at any time for the chemical needs of our body. To take any more or any less our thirst tells us to drink seemed to him to be folly.

I remembered well two patients who early showed me some of the troubles we people can get into if we drink much more water than we need. The first person was a man who complained of a distressing insomnia. He said he was awakened six or eight times every night and had trouble getting to sleep again. For a while I was puzzled, and then I learned that each time he awoke it was because he had to empty his bladder.

When I asked him how much liquid he took with his supper, he said, "Eight glasses of water." When I asked him why he took this, he said because a "health faddist" he knew had talked him into it. I told him to quit drinking the water, and that was the end of his "insomnia."

The next patient was a woman who had come all the way from Georgia to see me at the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota. Her trouble was that for two months she had a severe diarrhea for which no cause could be found. Her doctors had been unable to find any drug or diet that would help her in the least. She had to get up out of bed several times a night.

After all the usual studies had failed to show anything wrong with her digestive tract, I was stumped: I just could not guess what was wrong. But then, fortunately, as I chatted with her, the fact came out that for two months she had been drinking eight glasses of unwanted water a day.

Some neighbor had talked her into doing it. I stopped the water-drinking, and instantly the diarrhea was gone.

All of which, I hope, will convince some of my readers that it isn't always a good thing for a man to tinker at a mechanism, the workings of which are unknown to him.

People might remember that there are a number of desert animals which get along week after week without any water at all. They get their water out of the grasses and other foods which they eat.

I have known some very healthy athletes—men and women—who for some reason or other did not have any thirst for water. Even on a hot summer day I have seen them eat a meal without once touching the glass of water beside their plate!

Rail Subsidy Coming? —Pearson Thinks So

WINNIPEG (CP)—Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson speculated Wednesday night the federal government may introduce a subsidy to the railways to combat the inequities of the freight rate structure.

He was commenting in a public address on government announcements from Ottawa that the Progressive Conservatives have formulated a plan to remove part of the freight rate burden from the Prairie and Maritime provinces.

"Why didn't they do that three or four weeks ago, before they decided to approve a 17-per-cent freight rate increase?" he asked.

ELECTION MEETING

The Liberal leader was speaking in suburban North Kildonan in support of Anton Wescelak, Liberal candidate in the Dec. 15 federal by-election in Springfield. North-Kildonan lies within the southern boundary of the Springfield riding.

Mr. Pearson said the railways had told the government last July they wanted an increase in freight rates to grant employees higher wages.

"The government had adequate warning but did nothing about it until a strike date was announced. They acted in an atmosphere of emergency."

over something they had known about for a year."

He said the government had appointed a committee to make a study of the inequities of the freight rate structure when a study was already being made by a committee appointed by the former Liberal government.

Mr. Pearson said Liberals opposed the freight rate increase. They sought instead a complete investigation of all transportation facilities. He said a short-term subsidy could have been granted to the railways while the investigation was in progress.

'Magnetic Film Should Win an Award' says TV Actress

Kate Reid who has won awards herself for her outstanding television work as a dramatic actress was enthusiastic about a film just explained to her. $30 Million Short-Term Grant Hinted

TORONTO (CP)—The Star says the federal cabinet has decided to give Canada's major railways a short-term subsidy of $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 to ease the freight rate burden on the Maritimes and western Canada.

In an Ottawa dispatch, The Star says the recent 17-per-cent increase in freight rates is expected to be reduced to 8 per cent or 10 per cent as a result of the proposed subsidy.

The subsidy will be for a 12 or 13-month period ending in December, 1959, The Star says. It would be given to the CPR and CNR on condition they reduce freight rates on commodities shipped to and from western Canada and the Maritimes.

SUN'S BATTING AVERAGE SLUMPS IN RAIN, FOG

Rain, fog and cloudy skies have taken their toll in the sunshine department for this month, weatherman William Mackie said today.

In the first 10 days of the month only 10.3 hours of bright sunshine were recorded, and there were six days with no sun at all, he said.

During the same period last year there were 27.4 hours of sunshine in six days, he said.

The wet weather of the past week will continue tonight and Friday, he said, with cloudy skies, light fog, and intermittent rain. Temperatures continue to rise gradually, with a minimum of 42 degrees expected for tonight, and a high of 48 degrees Friday.

... HERE AND THERE ... With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Who wants a rattlesnake handbag for Christmas?

In Victoria today, Mrs. Lois Haggen, personable CCF member from Grand Forks, told me how Grand Forks rattlesnakes are finding a ready market in the shape of ladies shoes, purses and handbags.

It seems a man named "Rattlesnake Bill" has made a very good thing out of selling local snake skins to manufacturers in Canada and the United States.

"It is a unique enterprise but still very much a one-man show," Mrs. Haggen said. "I hope to introduce a few specimens in the Legislature during the next session."

Snakes alive! But MLAs will oblige Mrs. Haggen by not referring to her hometown as Rattlesnake Forks.

SOS from James Nesbitt, president of Victoria Historical Society:

"Will you please stop knighting James Dunsinuir! He was not Sir James Dunsinuir and he was not twice premier of British Columbia.

"He was premier once, from 1900 to 1902—that's all."

Shopping With the Nobility: In Vancouver recently Lord Tweedsmuir, son of a former governor-general of Canada toured a big department store looking for Canadian toy animals to take home to his family.

A young saleswoman placed a selection before him. "I say," he said, "that buffalo's a bit off, isn't? Have you ever seen a buffalo like that?"

"No Sir," she replied, "I've never seen a buffalo."

A solitary woman tourist from Oregon braved the drenching rain to visit our Legislative Buildings Wednesday afternoon.

"I just wanted to be able to say that I have been in your lovely Parliament," she said.

Acknowledgment: From Mrs. Beatrice McPherson of Victoria, Australia, a super-duper glossy publication in four colors entitled Land of the Southern Cross.

This profusely illustrated book on Australia and New Guinea is published by the Australian Publicity Council at Melbourne.

It must have cost the government considerably more than that famous booklet "Our Greatest Six Years" put out by the B.C. Social Credit League. The foreword by Prime Minister Robert Menzies is almost as glowing as that of Premier Bennett!

Mrs. McPherson visited Victoria last summer as one of the Flying Grannies of Victoria, Australia, who chartered their own plane in order to visit daughters married to Canadians and Americans.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

There are still a few tickets left to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce gala Christmas party in the Empress Hotel at noon Friday. Inquiries should be made at the Chamber of Commerce, EV 3-7191.

Victoria Rotary Club will meet at 7 this evening in the Empress Hotel for a Christmas get-together. A program of entertainment will include carol singing. There will be a turkey draw as well.

CREDITED with saving a neighbor's house from burning down Wednesday night, Ralph Gustafson, 14, of 1221 Johnson, was doing his school homework when he looked out a window and saw the glow of fire next door at 1217 Johnson. Running outside he saw flames coming from a basement door and put in the alarm. There was no one home at the time in the house of neighbor Mohan Singh Bains. Fire damage was kept to a mattress and pile of sawdust fuel. Cause of the blaze was not determined. (Boucher Photo).

"Death takes no holiday," said George Lindsay, B.C. superintendent of motor vehicles, in an appeal to motorists to exercise special care during the Christmas season. Mr. Lindsay said provincial and local law enforcement officers "will not let the holiday spirit deter them from strict enforcement of the laws against drunken driving."

The B.C. public works department has called for tenders for ballroom millwork at the new Government House. Sealed tenders must be returned by 2 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 23.

A smorgasbord luncheon will be held Friday at noon in the Blue Room, 1313 Broad, by the Greater Victoria Young Progressive Conservative Association. Speaker will be Eric Charman.

The Newfoundland Club will meet tonight at 6.45 in the Orange Hall, 725 Courtney Street.

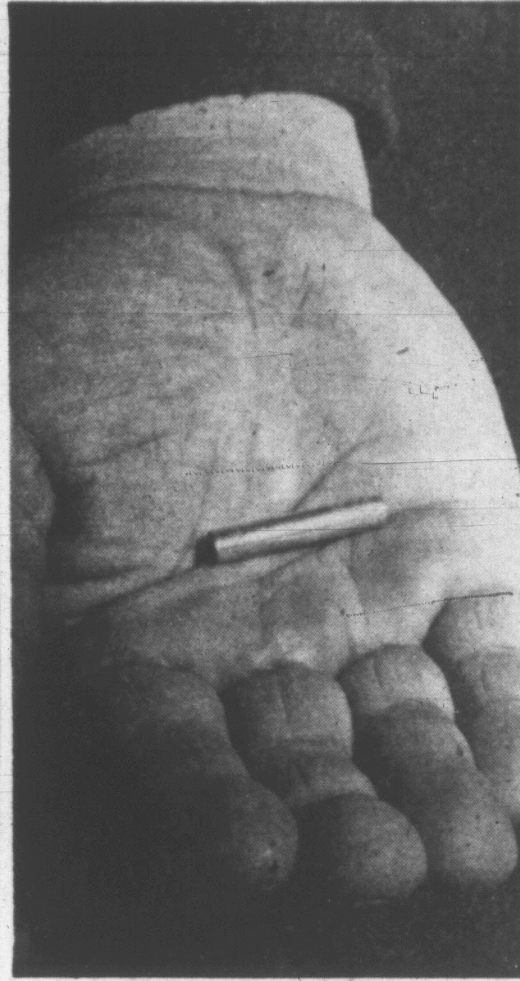

Seventy-four players took part in the last session of the six-week series held by the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club. Results follow:

North-South — Elizabeth Warren and Jack Goldie; Eric Goodwin and Les Stewart; Jack Patterson and Simon Marinker; Ann Kocutyn and Lilian Goodwin, Alice Dancock and Charles Hight, tied.

East-West — Otto Leestman and Bert Jorgensen; Tony Marsh and Gordon Rodger; Helen Hight and Madge Meachem; Mr. and Mrs. Beale; Mr. and Mrs. George Beale; Audrey Jorgensen and Stan Trickey.

Tuesday, Dec. 16, the club will hold its annual Christmas buffet supper at 6.30 p.m. at 902 Government.

George A. Liggs, 571 Michigan, was fined $250 for impaired driving and $25 for driving without a licence when he pleaded guilty to the charges in city police court today.

LITTLE CAPSULE ...

Cap Blast May Cost Boy an Eye

One of two teen-aged boys seriously hurt in a dynamite cap explosion Tuesday may lose his right eye, his mother said today.

"The doctor says there's not much chance they'll save his right eye, but I'm still hoping," said Mrs. Myrna Barker, 741 Goldstream.

Her boy, Allan Bosma, 13½, and Herbert McWilliam, 14, of 314 Goldstream, are in St. Joseph's Hospital ophthalmology ward where eye ailments receive specialized care.

The boys, both students of Belmont Junior-Senior High School, were playing with a dynamite percussion cap in a field near Jacklin and Attree at 3.50 p.m.

Apparently the cap went off as both boys bent over it, possibly because one of them struck it. Two boxes of the lethal caps were there, but luckily did not explode.

A third boy, Kenneth Robertson, 14, of 2921 Phipps, had just turned his back and was walking away when the blast went off. He was not hurt.

A FEW DAYS

The other boys have nearly identical injuries to eyes, face, right hands and both legs, but the Bosma boy has the more serious eye injury.

Doctors said it would be a few days before it could be determined just how badly damaged the eyes are.

Colwood RCMP, who are investigating the incident, said they have not yet interviewed the boys in hospital.

It had been suggested earlier the caps may have come from a department of highways explosives storage shed on Jacklin, but it is now understood they were not the property of the department.

Reported in "fair" condition Wednesday, both boys were described by the hospital today as "satisfactory; they are coming along."

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court Wednesday:

Ronald Gordon Hunter, 915 Arcadia, $25 for driving without a licence.

George Campbell Fleming, Patricia Bay, $15 for driving without brakes.

Ragbir Singh Bhandar, 921 Green, $10 for driving without a rear licence plate light and $10 for driving without a muffler.

Assumed Command Of Navy Frigate

Lieut.-Cdr. Walter S. Blandy, 34, of Victoria, has assumed command of the frigate HMCS Beacon Hill, a unit of the Pacific Command's Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron. Lieut.-Cdr. Blandy, whose family has been in Victoria for the past three generations, started his naval career in August, 1943.

Public Help Needed To Catch Deer Killer

15 ENTRIES FOR YULE LIGHT CONTEST

Fifteen entries have already been received in the Junior Chamber of Commerce "Christmas Lighting Contest" and at least another 50 are expected before the Dec. 15 deadline, contest chairman Stewart Hagar said today.

Entry forms may be obtained from the chamber office, Wharf Street, or in the lobby of the B.C. Electric building where prizes totalling close to $400 are on display.

Participants in the popular annual event—there were 55 participants in 1957 and homes were viewed by many thousands of Victorians and visitors—may enter any one of four classes.

These are for the best decorated house; best depiction of a Christmas message; best decoration of a window or door, and novice class entries.

Three prizes will be presented by the chamber in each classification, as well as two special prizes given winners by the BCE.

Reward Money Reaches $350

Indignation, reward money, and theories are piling up in the case of the slaughtered deer at Beacon Hill Park.

But authorities appear no closer to tracing the killer or killers.

Their only hope is that someone will come forward with information leading to their identity.

As of noon today, the informant stands to collect reward money totalling $350, offered by public bodies and private citizens.

The deer, a five-year-old buck which was a friendly favorite of hundreds of park visitors, was killed either Friday or Saturday night.

KNEW "THE SCORE"

Today Alex Johnston, park foreman, expressed the opinion the killers had had previous experience.

"They kept the head in case they were stopped by a game warden," he suggested. "Possibly they had a deer tag to make it appear legal. The hunting season closed a week ago last Sunday, but you have 14 days in which to declare your trophy."

Mr. Johnston said he hoped the head and hide might be found, to at least determine how the deer was killed. "About six years ago, there was a similar slaying," he said. "On that occasion, we found the head and hide floating in the inner harbor."

Three latest contributors to the reward money are Ted Hayward, former SPCA inspector, $50; Ray Hückin, 1464 Begbie, $25; Miss Kathleen Riley, 5327 Parker, $25.

Others offering reward money are Capt. Burges Gadsden, $25; Victoria Branch, SPCA, $100; Women's Auxiliary, SPCA, $75; City of Victoria, $50.

Mr. Hückin, who is a draughtsman for the provincial parks department, said he was making his offer in the hope that "if enough people kick in with rewards to build up a good sum, someone will squeal."

Miss Riley said she thought the deer slaying was "despicable."

Police have received a few calls and have checked out clues without avail.

There was a flurry of excitement at the SPCA when someone telephoned to offer a supply of venison to feed the dogs. But the offer was checked, found to be genuine and from a legitimate hunter.

HE BUILT A NEWSPAPER

City Man Leads Ethiopia Crusade

By TONY DICKASON

Percy Richards is a newspaperman who has been battling for freedom and good government all 35 years of his working life—and for the last three years in Ethiopia.

The 54-year-old former Victorian is editor of The Voice of Ethiopia, published in Addis Ababa, and which he founded in 1955. It was at first a hand-set weekly. Today, as a daily newspaper, it runs off modern presses in the two official languages of the country, Amharic and English.

Mr. Richards is visiting here for three weeks on the first holiday of his African tenure.

PREMIERS' AIDE

A former staffer on both the Times and Colonist, he was also executive assistant to ex-premiers John Hart and Byron Johnson until the latter was defeated at the polls in 1952.

His newspaper, published by the National Ethiopian Patriotic Association, is a sort of unofficial spearhead to Emperor Haile Selassie's "great crusade" for educational advancement for his 20,000,000 subjects.

"In this program, establishment of a free press forms an integral part. A great deal of what is happening in Ethiopia today stems from the new constitution proclaimed three years ago, calling, among other things, for free education, free speech and a free press."

"GREAT VISION"

At the beginning, Mr. Richards—"Percy" to his numerous friends here—had to "go it alone." Gradually he built up a staff of native co-workers and today, apart from writing the editorials and aiming them "home" to Addis Ababa, he can rely on the paper staff to handle the routine chores.

"Voice of Ethiopia" became a daily two years ago, on the personal invitation of the emperor, whom Mr. Richards describes as "a man of fighting spirit with great vision. He is an astute man who personally directs education."

The country is still underdeveloped, but changes can be easily seen. In the capital of 500,000 persons, there were few cars when the editor arrived, but now traffic presents a "terrific" problem.

HINGES ON EDUCATION

One of the main drawbacks to fast progress is the fact that a nuclear economy cannot be quickly imposed on a largely feudal country. Progress all hinges on education, he said, needed to raise standards of living.

The Ethiopians are keenly aware of the necessity for this. Even merchants in the innumerable small kiosks "always try out their English on us," he said. In the capital are about 1,200 Americans, 1,000 British and 350 Canadians.

Mr. Richards will present an illustrated talk Tuesday next at 8 p.m. in the Douglas Building cafeteria, sponsored by the Victoria branch, United Nations Society. The public is invited.

Mantha Trial 'Open' After Judge's Ruling

Trial of murder suspect Leo Anthony Mantha was transferred to open court this morning after being closed to the jury and press (for reporting purposes) since Monday afternoon.

Stumbling-block to the progress of the open trial was a "trial within a trial" during which Mr. Justice, J. G. Rutan heard statements said to have been made by the accused and which today the judge ruled on as to their admissibility.

He ruled that statements made by Mantha to city detectives in an apartment at 451 Superior Street, were admissible, but that a further statement alleged to have been made and signed by the accused at city detective office was inadmissible.

Following the ruling the jury was readmitted and open trial resumed immediately late this morning.

Mantha, a 31-year-old James Bay tugboatman, is charged with the Sept. 6 murder of HMCS Naden sailor Able Seaman Aaron Hetherington Jenkins, 23.

Action Taken For Possible Sentence Appeal

An application by the B.C. attorney-general's department for leave to appeal the terms of the sentences passed on Robert Sommers and H. Wilson Gray on conspiracy convictions is "a formality," a spokesman for the department said today.

He said the appeal concerns a point of law on whether one year or five-year sentences should have been applied on the conspiracy convictions.

Both Sommers and Gray had previously appealed their convictions.

"The Crown previously raised this point of law," the spokesman said. "This request for leave to appeal is therefore a formality which preserves the possibility of discussion in the Court of Appeal on this point."

Warning Issued Park 'Litterbugs'

Large-scale litter-bugging at Thetis Lake Park will result in prosecution for the guilty parties, Colwood RCMP warned today.

Police have investigated garbage-dumping around the lake shore recently.

On Etiquette

Return address for Christmas cards?

Is it proper to write one's address on Christmas card envelopes?

Louise Davis answers:

Yes, and it should be encouraged for the benefit of all concerned. Many a greeting card never reaches its destination because of error, insufficient address, or because of undecipherable handwriting. The sender's address, either written, printed or embossed, is a boon to post offices. It is often a help to the recipient who might have to do some intensive research to find the new address of the Smiths, who moved recently to another street or another state.

Donations—At a meeting of HMCS Ganges Chapter, IODE, a donation of $5 was made to the Springhill disaster fund. Mrs. G. H. Holmes presided and treasurer's report showed a balance of $169.77. Plans were made to pack Christmas parcels for pensioners and needy families in the parish hall kitchen on Dec. 18. A large parcel of toys, reels, records, books, magazines and chocolates has been sent to the adopted school at Tatlayoko. An appeal from Provincial Chapter for old spectacles was noted and it was decided that the chapter would gather and forward any sent in by the public. An account of work in the IODE ward in a children's hospital in India was given by Miss F. M. Aitkens and a paper on the Commonwealth, written by Mrs. T. Mout, was read by Miss H. Dean. Hostesses were Mrs. A. L. Taylor and Mrs. D. W. Winteringham.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If You're To Be 'Santa's Helper,' Be Well Groomed

Many housewives land jobs because they probably will be on their feet for longer hours, without rest, than usual. Then, too, standing is much more tiring than walking about. Attractive but comfortable shoes are of the greatest importance.

If you have been addicted to showers, you should switch for the time being because there is nothing more restful than a warm, soapy soak in a tub. If you find that you do not have time for a long, leisurely bath before dinner, a 10-minute foot soaking will do wonders for your tired underpinnings. You can use the tub or a basin. Have the water warm and soapy. This soothes and softens the feet.

Whatever beauty and grooming routines she has been following should be stepped up, but most of all, they must be planned. There will be even less time for them than usual and the routine will be less flexible. A shampoo cannot be postponed from one evening to the next morning. Nails must get even more attention than usual. Carelessness in such matters will be inexcusable.

You may find this job much more tiring than your housework.

If you have an extra Christmas job, you will have to be efficient in the care of your clothing. Clothes should be brushed and hung up the minute you take them off. Blouses and lingerie should be put in the washing machine or to soak in suds immediately. If you must invest in some new garments, you will find the drip-dries a great help.

Tom Alsbury
Topples Hume
As Mayor

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver gets a new mayor at the start of the year, a 54-year-old Scottish-born educationist dedicated to making Canada's third largest city prosperous and crime free.

He is Thomas Alsbury, principal of a city high school, who Wednesday made a successful upset bid against veteran chief magistrate Fred Hume, who has been mayor for eight years.

The final figures showed Mr. Alsbury with 41,948 votes, Mr. Hume with 29,934 and Archie Proctor, a third candidate, with 4,393.

Although little more than 25 per cent of the city's 242,000 voters turned out in the rain; they chose Alsbury over Hume, the man they first elected in 1950 and have returned every mayoralty year since. A third candidate, 46-year-old businessman Archie Proctor, ran far behind as an independent.

Alsbury's victory was considered not only an upset of the man who has made the lapel rose, the stetson and the big smile his symbols, but a score for the Civic Voters' Association which came into being in 1957 to oppose the Non-Partisan Association, a long-time strength in civic politics.

Alsbury, a former CCF party member, was a CVA man who also had the support of labor. Hume ran under the NPA label. Conceding defeat, Hume, who was mayor of nearby New Westminster before moving to Vancouver, congratulated the winner and promised his help when Alsbury takes office Jan. 1.

For his part Alsbury told the voters in a statement that after four unsuccessful tries at the mayoralty "you have given me the green light and there's enough Irish in me to be partial to green."

He promised to go after the provincial government for a better financial deal on education, social welfare and roads, to hold the line on taxes, to make Vancouver prosperous and rid the city of "hoodlums and criminal elements."

But among the six aldermen chosen by the voters the CVA didn't fare so well. NPA incumbents Earl A. Adams, Frank Baker and Harold Wilson were re-elected, with the latter heading the poll away out in front. Also elected was NPA candidate William Rathie and E. A. Jamieson who was backed by the CVA and labor.

Chosen in a close fight for a one-year term to fill mayor-elect Alsbury's seat on city council was Frank Fredrickson, one-time hockey great.

The NPA and CVA split evenly on the five school board members elected, with both associations backing one of the candidates. NPA candidates took two park board seats, CVA-Labor another and the fourth went to veteran incumbent Arnold Webster, an independent who got a huge majority.

CVA president David Sturdy announced after Alsbury's mayor victory he planned to quit because he considered his job done. He indicated, he would enter another field of politics, either provincial or federal.

Sturdy, a lawyer, became prominent as one of the men who brought to light the bribery-conspiracy case revolving around former lands and forests minister Robert Somers.

Alsbury, 54, was born in Edinburgh and came to Canada as a child with his parents. He became a teacher, but is still getting his own education, working for a master's degree in education.

He began politics with a tilt for the CCF party in the federal election of 1940 but failed in that and another attempt in 1945. He left the party's ranks last spring.

A slide of rock, mud and snow on Tunnel Hill blocked part of the inside lane on the Malahat Wednesday at noon before it could be cleared by highway department maintenance men.

Revolt
Report
Queried

HONG KONG (AP) — Residents of Macao reported today that everything appeared quiet on nearby Lappa following unconfirmed and conflicting reports of an uprising on the tiny Communist island.

An American and a Chinese who returned from Macao this morning said they saw and heard nothing of the reported disturbance at the Wanchai People's Commune. Lappa is about half a mile from Macao in the West River delta separating the Portuguese colony from the Chinese Communist mainland.

The pro-Nationalist Hong Kong Tiger Standard said today that three young farmers were executed on Lappa Tuesday for their role in a two-hour revolt the day before.

YOUTH 'Clobbered'
By Woman Gets Jail for Break-In

DUNCAN — Daniel Louis Johnny, 19, who was "clobbered" in the Carter Music Studio when found by the wife of the proprietor, was sentenced in police court to three months in jail on each of two charges of breaking and entering.

Alfred Carter, son of the proprietor, had found evidence of a break-in, and reported it. When Johnny finally was found hiding behind a piano, Carter said, his mother's nerves "got the better of her" and she clobbered the heck out of him.

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters) — Soviet-built MIG-17 jet fighters believed to belong to the United Arab Republic flew over Israel several times Wednesday. Military sources here said the MIGs flew relatively low and apparently were on reconnaissance or aerial photography missions.

'Simple Spelling' Advocate Dies

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Mont Follick, 70, who almost persuaded Parliament that English could be made a world language by simplifying its spelling, died Wednesday. A former Labor member of Parliament, he drafted a bill in 1949 calling for a simple system of spelling "with a view to making English a world language." The bill lost by only three votes.

DEATH CHEATED HIM

Voter Collapses
In Polling Booth

VANCOUVER (CP) — A man collapsed and died in a polling booth here Wednesday after fighting all day for a chance to vote in the city's civic election.

Thomas Sojecki, 78, went to a polling station and was told he was not listed as the owner of property at 1427 West 11th Avenue.

Polish-born Sojecki returned home. Then, angered because he felt someone was depriving him of his legal vote, he returned and was told again he was not listed.

He phoned his son Harvey Sykes. Harvey learned from city hall his father's name was listed as owner of a second piece of property he owned, and obtained his voters' list number.

Mr. Sojecki collapsed and died as he marked his ballot.
